WAR BOOSTS U.S. EXPORT FLOW TO SOUTH AMERICA

Survey Shows Vast Shift in Trade.

War has changed the trade relationships of the United States vitally and on a large scale. Despite the loss of almost the whole of continental Europe as a market, American exports for the 12 months ending in August, 1940, totaled 4 billion 16 million dollars, an increase of 37 per cent over the corresponding period of 1938-39.

Economically, this tremendous upswing in American export business may not be as important as it would appear, because a large proportion of the increase is represented by raw materials and instruments of war necessary to the British war effort. Business of this kind is necessarily temporary.

New Markets Opened.

In the long pull, for the years to come, the most important factor conditioning foreign trade is the loss to Great Britain and Germany of their important position in the Latin American markets and the acquisition of these markets by the United States.

The republics of Central and South America are buying in the United States on an unprecedented scale. Exports to these countries increased 42.4 per cent in the first 12 months of the war, ending last Aug. 31, and exports to South America alone increased 58 per cent.

The Latin American countries are not buying and never have bought from the United States on the scale of such a customer as Britain, but they are turning to the United States to satisfy their requirements as never before. It is thru establishment of these smaller, but potentially long time, trade relationships that this country can expect its most significant trade development in the future.

Survey Shows Trend.

THE TRIBUNE has made an exhaustive survey of the tremendous shift in world trade consequent upon the war, which is opening markets to the United States that barely were scratched in the past. Consulates of foreign countries, trade attachés, port authorities, shippers, statistical agencies of the government, and manufacturers of many diversified products have been consulted.

Altho in some cases it has been difficult to obtain specific figures, the tendency indicated by many individual commodities of basic demand may be safely considered as straws in the wind showing definite trends in America's export trade as it has grown under war conditions.

Some of the Pertinent Facts.

In May and June of this year a total of 1,150,000 tons of steel, 17 per cent of all production, was exported. Exports were at a rate 10 per cent greater than in 1917, the previous peak year, and in the two months South America took almost as much finished steel products as during the whole of 1939.

Manufacturers of electric refrigerators have found a large market expansion in Latin America. For the first eight months of the year Mexico purchased $427,817 worth of equipment, four times as much as in the same period during 1938. Brazil, with purchases of $621,918, was up 40 per cent.

Sixteen of the 20 Latin American nations were heavier buyers of electrical household equipment during the first eight months of 1940 than during the similar period in 1938, the last normal year of trade undisturbed by war. Many of them showed increases of 100 per cent or more. Mexico, buying $576,677 worth of equipment, doubled its 1938 purchases.

India Market Tapped.

Not only did the South American countries come into the market much more heavily than before for radios, but the American industry also began to make inroads on the market in India. More than $300,000 worth of radios were bought there during the eight month period, an upswing of almost 100 per cent.

American road building and construction machinery was in demand thruout the world. A sensational buyer was Russia, which took $2,054,456 worth of equipment in eight months. 2,300 per cent more than in 1938. Other heavy buyers were Greece, Colombia, Mexico, and Panama. Panama's purchases of $1,147,380 were

British Order Milk Price Raised to 7 Cents a Pint

LONDON, Nov. 24 (AP).—The food ministry announced today that beginning Dec. 1 the price of milk would be increased a half penny [about one cent] a pint because of war increased production costs. This raises the cost to just over seven cents a pint.

Perkins Quits Cabinet, Her Friends Hear

New York, Nov. 24 [Special].—Frances Perkins, secretary of labor since 1933, and only woman member of President Roosevelt's cabinet, has resigned and the President has accepted her resignation, it was reported tonight.

Secretary Perkins confided the news to old friends on a visit here last week, saying she intended to make a public announcement of her action at a social welfare meeting in mid-December. She indicated that her future plans were fixed, but did not disclose what they were.

The President, it was reported, protested about her resignation at first, but finally agreed to accept it. Since taking office she is said to have told the President she had done everything she set out to do in the post of secretary of labor with the exception of the initiation of a health insurance program, but she felt this would inevitably develop in the next few years.

A Stormy Career.

Madam Perkins intimated that she was relieved and happy to be leaving the cabinet, where she has experienced an unusually stormy tenure thru two administrations. Her confidants got the impression that she was slated to remain connected with the administration in some capacity.

Her terms of office were marked by the split in the American labor movement. In the internecine strife she found herself under attack by both wings of labor.

In addition Madam Perkins has frequently been accused of coddling communists and radicals.

Worked at Hull House.

For a year she taught chemistry at a girls' school in Lake Forest, Ill., leaving to spend six months in residence at Hull House. There she formed enduring friendships with Jane Addams, Grace Abbott, Dr. Alice Hamilton, Dr. Sophonisba P. Breckinridge, and other welfare workers.

She came to New York to undertake further graduate study and obtained her master's degree in social economics from Columbia university.

She served on the state industrial commission when Al Smith and Mr. Roosevelt were governors of New York. She went to the cabinet when Roosevelt became president.

ICE COAT SHUTS OFF W. TEXAS PHONE LINES; FLOOD HITS E. TEXAS

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 24 (AP).—A five inch coat of ice was thickening on communications lines in the isolated Texas Panhandle tonight, while in central east Texas floods were reported, and torrential rains continued to fall.

A Dallas official of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company received a report from a construction foreman at Amarillo via short wave radio that 12,000 poles had snapped. It was expected phone service would not be restored until tomorrow at Amarillo and other towns. The temperature was around 28 degrees. Freezing mist added to the coating on wires. Amarillo was without power or water late tonight. Streets were blocked by tangled wires and poles which fell under the load of ice.

Across the New Mexico line the town of Mosquero was snowed in, with high drifts blocking roads.

A major flood threatened in the lower Little river valley, which drains most of central Texas into the Brazos. The worst flood since 1921 was forecast. Seven persons were killed in traffic accidents during the downpour.

PROTESTS FOOD GIVEN DRAFTEES AT FT. THOMAS

Wilmington, O., Nov. 24 (AP).—The Clinton county draft board has informed Col. Arthur Underwood, commanding officer at Fort Thomas, Ky., that it is opposed to "sending Clinton county boys to any camp anywhere to eat bologna," it was disclosed here tonight.

Fort Thomas authorities began an investigation last week when 150 men became mildly ill following a meal at which bologna was served. Three Clinton county conscripts have been sent to Fort Thomas.

The draft board asserted in a telegram to Col. Underwood that "there cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, be any valid reason why our soldiers should not be provided with the very best foods obtainable."

High Hat? Not for Inaugural of Gov. Green!

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dwight H. Green yesterday issued his first order concerning his administration as governor of Illinois. He directed that simplicity and economy be observed in everything connected with his inauguration on Jan. 13.

In effect Green ruled there will be no necessity for men to borrow top hats and tails or a décolleté gown for the lady in order to avoid embarrassment at the inaugural ball. If such equipment already is included in the family wardrobe it may be worn, but the governor elect pledges Illinois folks that no one will feel conspicuous if he wears that dark business suit with the slightly shiny elbows.

Seeks to Cut Expenditures.

Green's purpose, he explained, is to prove at the very first moment of his administration that he intends to do his utmost to eliminate waste and extravagance. He wants to spare the citizens the burden of unnecessary expenditures from both the state treasury and the family budget.

Green's instructions, it was announced, will be carried out so implicity that the cost of the orchestra, the decorations, the refreshments, and all similar extraordinary expenses will be borne by a committee of the new governor's friends and supporters.

Ferre C. Watkins, chairman of the committee named to represent the governor elect in the planning of arrangements for the inauguration, said Green had told him and his associates that the expense of his induction into office must be kept at the minimum.

Ceremony to Be Plain.

"Altho this is his own ceremony celebrating the close of a long, strenuous political battle," said Watkins, "Mr. Green told us he does not want his inauguration made an expense to the taxpayers. That was the chief reason, he said, for appointing our committee.

"In keeping with the occasion, the ceremonies will be dignified but not lavish and will entail the least possible expense. In these times the public already is bearing tax burdens almost beyond limit, and the governor has asked us to help him begin his program of economy at the very moment he takes office. He regards the inauguration as an auspicious time to start the elimination of every needless expense."

Adj. Gen. Leo Boyle, who has charge of military arrangements for the inauguration, will come to Chicago this week for a conference with Green and his committee.

BRITISH VESSEL ATTACKED NEAR NEUTRAL ZONE

Another Nazi Raid Close to Ireland.

New York, Nov. 24 (AP).—A phantom sea raider shelled the 9,430 ton British freighter Port Hobart off the West Indies today, invading a crossroad of Great Britain's extended sea lanes.

Arrow indicates where ship was shelled.

The attack accompanied an intensification of the submarine siege of England by the axis powers in which one U-boat dared the home waters of the British fleet to torpedo an unidentified victim near Ireland.

The assault on the Port Hobart, a vessel usually in the England-Australia trade via the Panama canal, again brought the sea war to the outskirts of the neutrality zone set up by the Pan-American republics.

Sights "Suspicious Vessel."

Plowing thru waters where Britain's seaborne commerce from South America converges with vessels from the canal, the Port Hobart was 500 miles northeast of Puerto Rico—approximately 75 miles outside the neutrality belt—when it flashed word it had sighted a "suspicious vessel."

That was at 9:17 a. m. [Chicago time]. Twenty-five minutes later Mackay radio picked up a second terse signal:

"Being shelled by raider."

Silence then hid the fate of the freighter and the identity of its attacker, which shipping circles said might be one of Germany's two known pocket battleships or one of a dozen fast new Nazi freighters thought by maritime men to have been armed and sent forth to prey on British shipping.

First Raid Since Nov. 5.

The attack marked the first appearance of a surface raider since Nov. 5, when a German pocket battleship leisurely attacked a 38 ship convoy midway between Newfoundland and Ireland.

Several hours before the Port Hobart's appeal, Mackay radio intercepted a call for help from the 5,135 ton Swedish freighter Anten.

The Anten was crippled yesterday by a submarine after picking up survivors in an area of the new "graveyard of the Atlantic" off the Irish coast in which two British steamers had been torpedoed earlier.

The Swedish ship reported it was drifting due east and in need of "compass bearings and assistance."

Call Tells of Third Vessel.

A third vessel, which Mackay radio said identified itself by the call letters "GLEO," radioed that an "unknown vessel" had been torpedoed "18 miles off Inishtrahull," the northernmost tip of Ireland.

The position given indicated an unusually daring attack within ready range of naval shore patrol vessels. Most submarines have plied much farther from land.

Mackay radio also picked up a call from the 4,817 ton British freighter Trehata reporting it had sighted a "suspicious vessel" about 500 miles west of Ireland. No further word was heard.

In Washington, D. C., the state department, navy and coast guard said they had no information on the reported attack on the Port Hobart.

At Large in South Atlantic.

South American naval circles have deduced from an ever growing list of "overdue" ships that at least one powerful raider has been at large in the South Atlantic.

These sources suggested the possibility that the raider was the pocket battleship of the Spee class which attacked the convoy on Nov. 5.

Admit Two Vessels Sunk.

LONDON, Nov. 24 (AP).—The British trawler Kingston Alalite and the drifter Reed have been sunk, it was officially announced tonight.

29,100 Tons for U-Boat.

BERLIN, Nov. 24 (AP).—A single German submarine was credited by the high command today with sinking six British armed merchant vessels, totaling 29,100 tons. The dates were not given.

CORSETS, BEAUTY AIDS LIMITED BY BRITISH DECREES

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The glamour derived from face powders, creams, rouges, lipsticks, and perfumes is the latest big sacrifice the women of England are asked to make for Britain's war effort.

Sales of cosmetics after Dec. 1 will be limited to three pence [about 5 cents] weekly to women using makeup as against a normal use of at least four times that amount. By another order, corset production must be cut 50 per cent.

Women writers see the "corset ration" as a serious development. "If you ration women's corsets you ration women's health," one complained, adding that this was the verdict of medical opinion called in by the corset industry.

Stocks May Last Six Months.

She quoted a manufacturer as saying that corsets are not a frivolity like cosmetics and frills, but a necessity. Reserve stocks are said to be very low and it is predicted that it will be almost impossible within six months to buy corsets or girdles.

Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, president of the board of trade, decided on the 3 pence limit for cosmetics. Manufacturers may release to stores only one-fourth of the preparations they formerly did. If caught releasing more they are liable to a fine of £500 [about $2,000]. The remainder of their products are scheduled for export to obtain foreign exchange.

The English cosmetic industry had a yearly turnover of nearly £44,000,000 [about $176,000,000]. Its immunity from many forms of taxation long was exercised by armchair critics of successive budgeters. It now faces its most serious crisis.

Many factories and beauty salons will have to close. Many employés will lose their jobs, but these are mostly young women the government is hoping to absorb in war industries.

Perfumery Factory Closed.

One perfumery firm operating all over the world already has closed its British factory. Another company discharged all beauty demonstrators in its chain stores thruout the country. The blow to retailers also will be severe. The sale of beauty aids hitherto was a mainstay of many drug stores. Many tons of cosmetics were handled by 5 and 10 cent stores.

The cardboard formerly used for fancy powder boxes now will be employed in making cartridge cases. Metal containers will be diverted to aircraft production.

SLASH PARIS MENUS

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 18 [By Courier to Berlin; delayed].—The citizen of Paris who in the last few weeks has pulled in several notches in his belt will have to pull in some more. A decree published today forbids restaurants to serve a portion of cheese to any customer who has had a meat dish.

Until the present the maximum allowed any one was three dishes: the first a soup or appetizer, the second meat or fish with the trimmings, and the third cheese or fruit.

Customers who still felt empty after the soup or the little bunch of radishes or beet salad, which are the most common appetizers available, and the maximum helping of meat, which is 72 grams or approximately 2½ ounces, had previously relied on the permitted 20 grams of cheese to help them feel they had eaten.

Another Restriction.

Today's decree also provides that at the same meal with meat the customer cannot have either pastry or cream or butter. This provision, however, is now academic, since these articles have been lacking in all but a few of the more showy restaurants for weeks.

The restrictions show to what a pitiful state Paris, once the world's capital of fine eating, has fallen.

A result of the new restrictions is to equalize the balance between persons who must eat at home and those who can afford restaurants. The former are now practically unable to obtain foodstuffs and other standard commodities simply because they are not on the market and retail shops are closed for lack of merchandise. Thus the ration cards are becoming a joke.

People who stand in line for hours to get a problematical morsel of meat—usually to get nothing—are naturally blaming their distress on the Germans despite assurances in the press that the Germans are feeding themselves, and that there is in France sufficient food for the civilian population.

GREEK ARMIES PUSH AHEAD IN THREE SECTORS

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 24 (AP).—Greek troops, continuing their relentless advance into Albania, today gained ground on all three sectors of the front, a Greek spokesman asserted.

In the north, Greek advance units were said to have reached Pogradetz, about 25 miles north of Koritza, the base which was captured last week. The Italians were said to have retreated from Pogradetz. One Italian battalion, according to a dispatch from Koritza, fled into Jugo-Slavia and was interned.

Maschopolis, about 11 miles northwest of Koritza, has been captured, the Greek spokesman said. The Greek high command said 1,500 Italian prisoners, 10 guns, many howitzers, and other material were captured in mopping up operations in the Koritza area.

Occupy Rocky Heights.

In the southern sector, the Greeks were declared to have occupied the rocky heights above Argyrokastron, main Italian base in southern Albania, in a drive which carried some units 19 miles forward.

[Greek advance forces have entered the outskirts of Argyrokastron, according to reports reaching Reuters, British news agency, in Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia.]

Near the Adriatic the Italians, chiefly mechanized forces which led the main assault on Greece four weeks ago, were reported retreating toward Delvino and Santi Quaranta, which the Italians renamed Porto Edda in honor of Premier Mussolini's daughter Edda, wife of foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano. The capture of Konispolis, on the Ionian sea a few miles inside Albania, was confirmed by the Greeks.

In the central sector the Greeks were said to have reached Frasheri, northeast of Premet, Albania.

The Italians were reported trying to reorganize their retreating forces to form a second line of defense but the exact position of the line was not known.

Shell Retreating Italians.

OCHRIDA, on the Albania-Jugo-Slavian Border, Nov. 24 (AP).—Greek artillery and British planes bombarded retreating Italians tonight in Pogradetz, Albanian town across Lake Ochrida from this border city, and Greek infantrymen pressed onward from Koritza at the heels of the Fascists.

The burst of explosives could be seen from the Jugo-Slav side of Lake Ochrida. Artillery fire was particularly heavy between 2:30 p. m. and 4 p. m.

On the road from Pogradetz to Elbasani, a mid-Albanian city, Greek and British planes bombed Italian communications and reënforcements struggling to reach Pogradetz to check the Greeks, reports reaching here said.

Greeks Wage Offensive War.

SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 24 (AP).—Greek infantry regiments were reported today to be cracking thru the Italians with such fierceness that the more enthusiastic Greeks believed they would soon have half of Albania in their hands. An authoritative Greek source offered these statements:

Greece is waging an offensive war intended to throw the Italian army out of Albania.

The British and Greek fleets, blockading the eastern end of the Mediterranean, have turned the Aegean sea into a "Greek lake" and have isolated the Italian Dodecanese Islands.

Italians Take New Positions.

ROME, Nov. 24 (AP).—The Italian high command today said Fascist troops in Albania were moving into new positions under Greek fire from artillery and machine guns and declared "the enemy vainly tried to hinder the maneuvers of our troops, which are proceeding regularly."

The high command acknowledged another air raid on Turin and Liguria, but said there were neither victims nor damage. On the other hand, it said, the Italians had shot down eight British planes in air raids, six of them over Malta.

"Enemy" sailboats, presumably Greek, were bombed in the Aegean sea near the island of Samos, the communique said, and Italian warships attacked and hit an armed motor boat and some minelayers.

SLOVAKIA JOINS EVER EXPANDING AXIS WAR PACT

Premier Signs Amid the Usual Ceremony.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—All of Germany's neighbors, except Switzerland, now are under direct leadership of the Nazis or are allied with them. The former lands of the Czechs, Poland, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxemburg, and most of France are occupied by German forces, and today tiny Slovakia signed documents registering her adherence to the military alliance among Germany, Italy, and Japan. Slovakia became the sixth member of the alliance, Hungary and Rumania having joined just ahead of her.

The signing was carried out in the chancellery this noon, a few hours after the arrival in Berlin of Premier Bela Tuka of Slovakia. Very businesslike methods have been developed in the course of these state visits of representatives of the minor countries of southeastern Europe.

Greeting by Von Ribbentrop.

Premier Tuka and members of his staff wore the black uniforms of the Hlinka Guard and reviewed the guard of honor which just a few minutes previously had presented arms to honor Gen. Antonescu.

At the chancellery only small groups of newspaper men and diplomats were present to witness the ceremony of "great historical importance for Slovakia," according to the words of Premier Tuka. Long before the breakdown of Czecho-Slovakia, Tuka's Hlinka Guard friends were close to the Germans and there can be no doubt of Tuka's loyalty to Naziism.

In the ambassadors' hall of the chancellery, footmen in silk knee pants and long white stockings flanked the doors. The footmen now wear a whole collection of decorations bestowed upon them by visiting statesmen.

Special Italian Ambassador.

Von Ribbentrop escorted Tuka into the hall with Italy's special ambassador, Gino Buti, in Fascist uniform; the Japanese ambassador, Saburo Kurusu; the Rumanian minister, and the minister of Hungary. They sat down at the long flat desk which runs the full width of the room. Von Ribbentrop welcomed the diplomats. Then Tuka rose with what looked like an enormous manuscript in his hands. Much to the relief of the assembled diplomats and newspaper men it turned out that it was printed in huge type to enable Tuka to read it thru his thick lenses.

After the exchange of assurances of friendship, members of the German division of protocol brought out four red bound volumes containing the text of Slovakia's adherence to the pact and wholesale signing started. Von Ribbentrop, the Japanese ambassador, the Italian special ambassador, and Tuka signed their own and their partners' documents.

Switzerland, which so far has eluded Nazi attempts to compel her to openly side with the axis partners, received a warning in the official Voelkischer Beobachter this morning. The Germans complained that "an attempt is being made by the Swiss to deny the genuinely German character of the German-Swiss population and to deny a spiritual unity which remains in spite of borders which pass thru common German ground."

AID OF VON PAPEN FLIES TO BERLIN WITH TURK WORD

Martial Law 'Defensive,' Says Ottoman Press.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 24 (AP).—The military attaché of the German embassy left for Berlin by plane today. He was unofficially reported to be carrying confidential memoranda on the results of a conference that the German ambassador, Franz von Papen, had with the Turkish foreign minister yesterday.

The Turkish press stressed statements that the recent invocation of martial law in vital parts of Turkey was a purely defensive measure against any possible surprise attack.

War Plans Denied.

The official government newspaper, Ulus, said the extraordinary defense regulations were ordered enforced "after Italian attacks on Greece in our zone of security."

"Except for this, they have no further meaning . . .," the paper continued. "We shall never permit material or moral weakness to pave the way for a surprise attack against us."

The newspaper Vakit said:

"Blackouts and martial law in some Turkish towns have given the impression to foreign countries that Turkey is preparing for war. In reality, the danger of war is not at our frontiers.

Greece's Experience Cited.

"But by the unjust aggression of Italy against our neighbor, Greece, the war has entered our zone of security. There is always the danger that the war will come to us, as to Greece, with an ultimatum of a few hours' duration. Extreme vigilance, therefore, is necessary."

Yeni Sabah said Germany was trying to conceal the increasing importance of United States aid to Britain by drafting recruits for the axis. But this, it added, was "like trying to cover the noise of bombs with firecrackers."

Many new Turkish regulations, authorized under martial law, are being drafted and will soon be announced.

CHARGE GERMANS BLOCK GIFTS OF FOOD TO CAPTIVES

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 24 [Special].—No food parcel has yet reached any of the 44,000 British war prisoners in Germany, it was revealed today coincident with an announcement that the Canadian War Prisoners Parcels committee is prepared to send 10,000 such parcels a week.

Failure of the German authorities to communicate the names of prisoners was given as the reason. The Germans were said to have explained they were unable to supply the names and addresses because the prisoners were constantly moved from one camp to another.

Under the Geneva convention, the cost of shipping food parcels to prisoners thru the mails is relatively small if each parcel is individually addressed. If shipments are made in bulk thru the International Red Cross at Geneva, without being individually addressed, the cost totals about $4 a parcel. The extra expense, it was said, probably will cut the number of parcels that can be sent to 5,000 a week.

BURNED IN STORE BLAST.

Dixon, Ill., Nov. 24 [Special].—Charles Kelley was burned severely about the head and face yesterday when a kerosene stove exploded in the kitchen of his home. Several windows were blown out of the house by the blast. Two rooms were damaged considerably by flames.

3 MILLION BRITONS PUSH DEMANDS FOR WAGE BOOST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Three million men in vital war industries—engineering, shipbuilding, and the railroads—are asking for higher pay and it is expected Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin will forward the demands to the national arbitration tribunal.

Demands of the Amalgamated Engineering union and the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering unions have been refused by employers on the grounds that large increases in wages would result in higher prices. The railway men have reached the stage of presenting their claims to the companies.

Altho the government is trying to control the prices of staple foodstuffs, the index of the cost of living is steadily rising.

MANILA HEARS OF TROUBLE ON REFUGEES' LINER

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 25, Monday (AP).—Rumors of friction among members of the crew of the liner Washington, which is evacuating American refugees from China, were heard today as the vessel prepared to leave Manila, but shipping and naval officials had no comment. Fifty United States sailors and marines will sail on the Washington but naval officers said they were returning to the United States under routine relief orders.

One report said some of the crew tried to enlist others as members of their union; another said trouble was caused by German-Americans who felt their patriotism was questioned by fellow workers.

A score of constabularymen and customs agents made a three hour search of the liner, and every crew member was ordered to open his locker for the inspection. A report that the officials were searching for a possible bomb went unconfirmed.

Churchill Congratulates Metaxas on Greek Victory

LONDON, Nov. 24 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill congratulated Greek Premier Metaxas today on Greek victories against the Italians in Albania and concluded with the phrase: "Zeett ee Ellas"—life to Greece. "We are all inspired by the feat of Greek valor against an enemy so superior in numbers and equipment," said Churchill's message to Metaxas. "This recalls the classic age. Zeett ee Ellas."

BEWARE! NAZIS TELL GREEKS IN FIRST WARNING

Brand Gen. Metaxas a Tool of British.

BERLIN, Nov. 24 (AP).—The first chilly warning to Greece from Germany came tonight in a statement by the semiofficial Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz asserting that Premier General John Metaxas of Greece has "made himself openly a tool of the British policy of spreading war."

The semiofficial publication declared that Gen. Metaxas' statement that he was fighting for all the Balkans was "extraordinarily risky and dangerous."

"By such a statement," Korrespondenz said, "Metaxas has made himself openly a tool of the British policy of spreading war."

"Europe today stands against England," Korrespondenz said. "Whoever in the face of consequences wishes to stand [outside of the German sphere] and sacrifice the welfare of his own people should not be surprised if the changing of the order of the day brings ruin to the one at fault."

Fight "German Interests."

The statement was the first notable instance where any semiofficial German mouthpiece has warned Greece of the full possibilities of her refusal to capitulate before the demands of Italy, Germany's original axis partner.

Korrespondenz quoted Metaxas as saying he was the herald not only of his own land but at the same time for other southeast peoples and further quoted the Greek premier as saying the Greeks were fighting "not only for their own land but also for other Balkan states and for the freedom of Albania."

Since Germany herself has taken over the job of protecting the southeast peoples, this approached the nearest thus far to being a German suggestion that the Greeks were fighting not only against Italy but against German interests in the Balkans.

Forecast Bulgarian Move.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 24 (AP).—German circles predicted tonight that Bulgaria "in a very short time" would not only sign up with the axis but would "seize the golden opportunity to obtain an outlet to the Aegean sea from Greece." Such a move might turn Bulgaria into a battlefield.

Behind the struggle of this little nation, which has fewer inhabitants than New York City, to maintain some independence of action there still looms the question of the exact nature of the German-Russian relations.

It is regarded as significant in diplomatic circles that no denial has emanated from Moscow of reports that Russia advised Bulgaria not to join the axis.

One possibility advanced in official Bulgarian quarters was that if the premier or foreign minister is called to Berlin he may try to compromise by offering to issue a public declaration of Bulgarian foreign policy henceforth to coincide exactly with axis policy instead of formally joining the Berlin-Rome-Tokio alliance.

[Hungary, Rumania, and Slovakia now have pledged allegiance to the axis, and Berlin dispatches yesterday said Bulgaria was expected to make the same commitment soon, possibly today. Bulgaria's signature would move Germany's influence down to the Turkish border only a few miles from the Dardanelles and place Germany in position to attack Greece in a flanking movement to help her axis partner, Italy.]

All activity in Sofia ceased for an hour this afternoon when air raid alarms sounded and false reports circulated that Bulgarian troops had marched into Greece.

Showdown with Turkey Hinted.

ROME, Nov. 24 (AP).—A new military offensive in southeastern Europe was hinted today by the authoritative Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, following Rumania's alliance with the axis.

A demand for a showdown with Turkey, backed by the might of German, Rumanian and Bulgarian armies, appeared to observers as the only event Gayda could have had in mind when he wrote in La Voce D'Italia:

"A new chapter in axis political action which will shortly be followed by important new pages and normal warlike events shows that axis initiative continues in the political conduct of the war."

Ushers for Jugo-Slav Celebration

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

3,000 Expected

Three thousand Jugo-Slav Americans will gather next Sunday in Pilsen park pavilion, 3049 26th street, to commemorate the 23d anniversary of Jugo-Slavia and National Unity day.

George Marchan, chairman of the program, said yesterday that Mayor Kelly and Congressman A. J. Sabath are scheduled to speak. Others who will attend are Peter Cabrich and Voislav Mirkovich, Jugo-Slav consul and assistant consul, respectively, and Alex J. Mandusich, national commander of the American-Jugo-Slav Legion and wearer of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Croatian, Slovenian, and Serbian singing societies and dances will provide entertainment, featured by a tamburitza orchestra and the dancing of the Kolo, or circle dance, which is similar to the American square dance.

BRITISH LAND TROOPS ON GREEK MAINLAND TO ASSIST AIR FORCE

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 24 (AP).—British soldiers, forced from Europe last summer by the fall of France, have regained a continental foothold on the Greek mainland, it was disclosed tonight.

British warships transported an undisclosed number of soldiers across the Mediterranean without interference from Italian planes or warships, it was said, and landed them at Greek ports some time ago. The soldiers are not combat forces but specialists brought over solely to help the Royal Air Force in its battle against the Italians.

The operation of landing the troops was carried out in daylight under a clear sky, it was said.

KEEP HANDS OFF, JUGO-SLAVIANS WARN BULGARS

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 24 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav press tonight warned Bulgarian revisionists against engaging in adventures aimed at annexing territory in southern Jugo-Slavia. The independent paper Politika declared "countless graves mark only too clearly in the Balkans what is Serb and what is Bulgarian."

The semiofficial newspaper Vreme accused Peter Doumanov, who raised Bulgarian claims on Macedonia during debate in the Bulgarian parliament, of being an "agent provocateur who sought to embroil Jugo-Slavia with Germany and Italy."

"Doumanov must know that Jugo-Slavia is no house of cards and that the united and pacific Jugo-Slav people have strong muscles and hard fists with which provocateurs must reckon well."

VICHY PROTESTS BRITISH BOMBING OF MARSEILLES

Reparations and Apology for Raid Demanded.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 24.—The French government tonight demanded an apology and reparations for the bombing of Marseilles yesterday by British planes.

The protest was transmitted thru the American embassy which has acted as intermediary for France since the breakoff of relations with England following last July's attack on the French fleet at Oran.

The stiffness of the French demands on the English indicated that the Petain government, even tho defeated, is at the end of its patience.

[A British broadcast heard in the United States Sunday evening said "the story that we have bombed Marseilles is untrue. Marseilles is in unoccupied France and is not on the British bombing list." The radio added that nothing was known in London of the reported Vichy government's protest to Britain.]

Alarm Sounded in Toulon.

Early today it was announced without details that air raid alarms had been sounded in Marseilles and Toulon, the latter a big naval base and arsenal port. Later it was announced that several British bombers flew over the Marseilles region dropping bombs which killed four women, wounded five other persons, destroying three buildings in the center of the city and caused about 20 fires and heavy damage to property.

The French appeared to be giving the English the benefit of a doubt that the attack was not deliberately intended, and was the result of unskilled aviators losing their way.

Speculate on New Trade.

President Roosevelt's appointment of Rear Admiral William D. Leahy, retired, to replace William C. Bullitt as ambassador to France has had wide reverberations here at a time when collaboration with Germany and Franco-German negotiations are engaging the Vichy government's main attention.

The naming of Admiral Leahy has encouraged the hopes of French politicians who believe that French collaboration with Germany can be worked into intercontinental commercial exchanges across the Atlantic. A man high in the Vichy government is known to favor a scheme whereby the American cotton crop could be exchanged for something which America requires from Europe.

BALTIMORE STRIKE SETTLED.

SEAMAN'S STORY OF SHIPWRECK IS SUBSTANTIATED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 24.—Federal authorities today brought William P. O'Brien, St. Louis, Mo., seaman, back from a tour of barren Desecheo Island and said they were satisfied with his story that he was shipwrecked there recently and that his companion, Clifford Russell, of Louisville, Ky., had drowned.

William P. O'Brien.

O'Brien, who was rescued by the coast guard after nearly two weeks on the island, had been taken back to it by a federal bureau of investigation agent to check up on his story. Upon their return today the agent said his inquiry was ended.

O'Brien said they had located Russell's body, but efforts to recover it had been abandoned because it was wedged under rocks in the treacherous waters of an inlet.

AXIS CITIES HIT IN LONG RANGE BRITISH ATTACKS

Bomb Fiat Motor Works at Turin, Italy.

Deny Berlin Fires Set

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—The Tribune bureau here has been unable to verify British claims that they started big fires in the German capital during Saturday night's raid. Some of the railroad stations they asserted were bombed are close to The Tribune office. Almost no gunfire could be heard during the raid much less the sound of dropping bombs, nor were big fires started. The Germans admit the British were in the outskirts of Berlin but what they could have mistaken for the main Berlin railroad stations is a mystery.

LONDON, Nov. 24 (AP).—In one of the mightiest attacks in its ever-broadening offensive, the British air force drove home slashing overnight blows at both ends of the Rome-Berlin axis, from Turin, Italy, to the Nazi-held continental coast and to Berlin, the air ministry announced today. Another heavy attack opened on the coast tonight in the Boulogne area.

From Saturday's dusk to today's dawn British bombers kept at it and returned home with accounts of blazing destruction left in such vital objectives as Berlin's Putlitzstrasse and Lehrter freight yards, Essen's sprawling Krupp works; the royal Italian arsenal and the Fiat motor works at Turin, and targets at Leipzig and Duisberg-Ruhrort in Germany.

The air ministry news service said the attacking planes reached Berlin before 8 p. m. and started at least 10 big fires in the Putlitzstrasse and the Lehrter freight yards.

Drop 1,000 Fire Bombs.

Another formation bombed the rail yards between Berlin's Potsdamer and Anhalter stations with 1,000 incendiary and numerous explosive bombs, it related. One pilot said one direct hit was scored on the Potsdamer station, causing fires.

At Turin, fires were declared started by incendiary bombs which guided bomb-laden planes to the targets.

Still other squadrons blasted at German naval bases in northern and western France and concentrated on a torpedo boat station at Lorient, a power station and drydocks at Brest, and harbor works and railway approaches at Boulogne. The British reported they bombed oil refineries and docks at Hamburg.

The Germans lunged unsuccessfully at London today and peppered the Kent coast "Hell's Corner" with air bombs and shells from long range guns across the channel, then with the setting sun launched their nightly assault on the capital.

A western English town bore the brunt of German air attacks tonight while London experienced its quietest week-end in three months. Invading planes flew over the western town in almost continuous relays. Buildings reported hit were a home for the aged, two churches, two theaters, and shops. Some casualties resulted. Five enemy craft were reported downed during the day and night.

Drop Tons of Bombs.

BERLIN, Nov. 24 (AP).—More than 1,200,000 pounds of bombs were dumped by 250 Nazi planes on the industrially important city of Birmingham and the port of Southampton in two overnight attacks on Britain, it was reported tonight.

The German high command declared several hundred planes carried out a "rolling attack" on Birmingham and unloosed more than 660,000 pounds of bombs.

HUNDREDS OF MEN IN BRITISH SERVICES ARRIVE IN CANADA

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 24 (AP).—Hundreds of uniformed men, including group Commander Charles Sweeney, American soldier of fortune, who organized the Eagle squadron of the royal air force, arrived from Britain tonight aboard a big liner flying the Belgian flag.

The men included R. A. F. fledglings coming to train for active duty, officer instructors, Canadian R. A. F. officers, American pilots who have been ferrying warplanes across the Atlantic, and men of the royal navy to man former American destroyers transferred to Britain and anchored here.

Sweeney, wearing the uniform of an R. A. F. officer, declined to comment on the development of his all-American squadron which may soon be fighting for Britain, or the purpose of his visit.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

BRITISH ENVOY'S U. S. TALK STIRS UPROAR AT HOME

Parliament May Take Up Lothian's Action.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Lord Lothian, who was criticized here today for telling American reporters on his return to the United States as British ambassador that "Britain is beginning to come to the end of her financial resources," may find himself under fire when parliament meets again.

The Sunday Dispatch considered his statement an official "blunder" and said so under a two column head on its front page. Others, however, regarded the statement as a frank expression of the real situation preparatory to British demands on the United States for financial help, the extent of which will be regulated by orders placed in the United States for airplanes and munitions.

Parliament also is expected to inquire into the admitted pressure that Lord Halifax, foreign minister, brought to bear on Dr. Juan Negrin, former Spanish Republican [Loyalist] premier, in an attempt to cause him to leave England.

Franco Desires Ouster.

Negrin is a refugee here. Generalissimo Francisco Franco, dictator of Spain, has objected to his presence in the United Kingdom on the ground that he may form the nucleus of a counter revolution against Spain. To appease Franco, the British government requested Negrin to leave, offering him a lecture tour in New Zealand. Negrin refused, demanding that he be deported or arrested, either of which would embarrass the government.

A taking of stock of the war in all of its aspects is also expected to mark the meeting of parliament.

Among questions scheduled for debate are the war aims, a clear statement of which a few Labor and independent members have been demanding. Independent Labor members, of whom there are three, are interested in "peace terms and an international conference."

Churchill Opposes Statement.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill has countered the demand for clarification of peace aims by replying that the time is inopportune. However, with Adolf Hitler bringing Europe into the axis bloc, pressure has been increased on the government to form a counter plan so that countries under German domination may know what to expect from a British victory.

The fact that England is undergoing a social revolution and that Churchill's conception of "the new order" for England, not mentioning Europe, is different from that of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin's, illustrates one of many difficulties involved in a detailed statement of war aims.

One day of parliamentary debate probably will be devoted to war production and the best possible use of man power for that end. Arthur Greenwood, chairman of the cabinet's production council, and Bevin are expected to speak.

Crochet Champion

MRS. ADOLPH BURKHARDT.

Woodworth, O., Nov. 24 [Special].—Mrs. Adolph L. Burkhardt, mother of two children, has been declared grand champion in the fourth annual national crochet contest. More than 350,000 contestants competed for the title. Mrs. Burkhardt will go to New York to receive the first prize award of $250.

SOLDIER BAGS A 5 FOOT JAGUAR WITH .22 RIFLE

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Nov. 24.—Private William Monroe added fame to battery I of the 73d coast artillery today when he killed a five foot jaguar with a .22 caliber target rifle. Monroe had shot a couple of rabbits and was returning to camp with three companions when he saw a pair of eyes gleaming in the jungle.

"Pop went the little .22 caliber," says the Panama Coast Artillery News, "and the animal fell with a thud."

TIGHTEN GUARD ON GIBRALTAR; TROOPS ARRIVE

Defenses Against Attacks from Air Tested.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALGECIRAS, Spain, Nov. 24.—The guard at strategic points on Gibraltar has been strengthened, it was learned here tonight.

Troops of the Gibraltar garrison have been ordered to bear arms at all times as well as carry gas masks even when off duty. Previously, they had been required to carry gas masks only one hour weekly.

A large number of artillery troops with equipment were among the latest arrivals at the rock. They are being lodged in houses left vacant by the evacuation of civilians.

Practice Raid Defense.

Antiaircraft exercises have been intensified and the last few days a British plane has flown over the rock offering itself as a target against which antiaircraft crews shoot blanks.

Activity in the harbor has been unusually intense the last 24 hours. One of the battleships currently at anchor is said to be the French L'Ocean, which was given up to England after the fall of France. It has been camouflaged and it is believed to be manned by a British crew.

[L'Ocean, according to Jane's Fighting Ships, is the former battleship Jean Bart transformed into a training ship. It originally was a sister ship of the Courbet and Paris. L'Ocean was built in 1911 and has a displacement of 22,189 tons.]

Four Killed in Alexandria.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 24 (AP).—Four civilians were killed and 28 injured early today in an Italian air raid on Alexandria, British naval base, a ministry of defense statement said. Only slight property damage resulted, it was said.

The British high command announced that Italian forces virtually had abandoned Metemma, just within the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and across the border from Ethiopia.

[When the British announced recently that Gallabat, adjacent to Metemma, had been recaptured from Italian forces which had pushed into the Sudan, they said the Fascists took up Metemma positions. The two towns are so close that the names Metemma and Gallabat are used almost interchangeably.]

HUNT ATTACKERS OF WOMAN.

NEW GOLDEN RULE TO GOVERN WAR IS URGED BY POPE

Pius Prays for Peace "in Our Days."

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 24 (AP).—Pope Pius XII., in an impassioned prayer for "peace in our days," pleaded anew today for an end to "the whirlwinds of war that in the light of day or in the dark of night scatter terror, fire, destruction, and slaughter on humble folk."

The pontiff, vigorous of voice, broadcast his 20 minute homily from the basilica of St. Peter's, where he had concluded a special mass for the war dead.

He called for a new golden rule of war, urging that combatants in no circumstances "do to others that which they would not have done to themselves or their country," and to fight the war as humanely as possible.

Christ's Words His Text.

For his text the pope referred to Christ's answer to the apostles as to what would be the sign of the world's end, concluding, "you shall hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you be not troubled. For these things must come to pass. But the end indeed is not yet."

"We must not be troubled in the preaching of the gospel," the pope said, "but nonetheless the present hour is a phase in the solemn story of humanity predicted by Christ."

The pontiff blamed the "contentious admiration" of raw materials as responsible for the war, saying oil and minerals in the earth "disturb the aims of man and upset his peace."

Today's conflict, he said, "instead of subsiding goes on to gather new ferocity" so that the "din of war seems to overcome and drown our voice."

Prays for Just Peace.

"Grant us, O Lord," he prayed, "peace in our days. May justice and charity on one side and on the other be in perfect balance so that all injustice be repaired, the reign of right restored, all rancor and discord be banished from men's minds, and may there arrive . . . true and well-ordered peace that will permanently reunite as brothers . . . all peoples of the human race."

The pontiff refrained from asking special protection for the Vatican, but called attention to "this altar and this cross which dominates . . . this tomb on which we reverently stand [that of St. Peter], this cornerstone of a church known and venerated in the face of nations." He coupled this statement with an appeal to his listeners to unite with him in "the divine sacrifice of appeasement."

Usual Pomp Is Dropped.

At the pope's orders, the pomp and color usually marking a papal ceremony in St. Peter's were dispensed with. The only color was afforded by the uniforms of a long procession of cardinals, prelates, and guards who accompanied the pontiff as he walked thru the great nave. There was no handclapping and no cheers of "long live the pope," for he had asked that in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion there be no such demonstrations.

For the first time since he became pope, Pius XII walked into the basilica, instead of using the throne chair in which pontiffs usually are carried on the shoulders of red uniformed attendants.

The pope delivered his homily in Italian at 11:10 a. m. [3:10 a. m. Chicago time].

Japanese Hear Singapore Gets More Men and Planes

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 25, Monday (AP).—A Domei, Japanese news agency, dispatch from Hanoi, French Indo-China, said today that British defenses at the great naval base at Singapore have been bolstered with heavy reinforcements from Australia and India, and that the air force has been rapidly expanded. Shipments of heavy bombers are reaching Singapore from the United States and the near east, the report said.

SIX LAKE BOATS HEAD SOUTH FOR DEFENSE DUTIES

Craft Tie Up for Night South of Joliet.

The placid Illinois waterway felt martial stirrings yesterday when it bore four navy vessels and two coast guard craft on the start of a journey from Chicago to New Orleans, La., as part of the national defense program.

It is expected the boats will be used in neutrality patrol duty. The Great Lakes fleet contributed to salt water service the submarine chasers 330 and 432 and the yacht patrols 28 and 31. Coast guardsmen manned two speedy picket boats which had been delivered Saturday by the manufacturer.

Lieutenant Commander H. M. Hart was in charge of the navy vessels as they left the naval armory at the foot of Randolph street. He estimated the trip to New Orleans will take 13 days. The boats tied up last night at the Dresden lock, 20 miles south of Joliet.

Boat Bears Service Stripe.

"See that brass chevron on the cabin—that means that the 330 served overseas in the world war," Lieutenant Commander Hart said. "The 432 is of world war vintage, too, but they still can make 18 knots. These ships were brought up the Mississippi in 1920."

The sub chasers bear only 3 inch guns aft, but they will be fully armed in New Orleans. Light armaments also will be added to the yacht patrols and the coast guard boats.

Posted warnings bearing the words "Keep Out! $50 Fine" on locks emphasized the national defense character of the Illinois waterway. The public formerly flocked to see the mechanical water steps in operation.

The lock at Lockport, with a 41 foot lift, is the highest in the Illinois river. The coast guard boats scooted thru the lock ahead of the navy boats.

Craft Lowered 34 Feet.

By coincidence vessels of the two federal services met at the next lock, at Brandon Roads, just south of Joliet. Here all six boats were put thru in one operation of the machinery, which lowered them 34 feet.

The 54 navy sailors and the six coast guardsmen were told they were fortunate to have a chilly day for their passage thru these waters. As a result of the United States Supreme court decision limiting diversion of water from Lake Michigan, sewage has made the lane unpleasant in warmer weather, they were told.

Lock employés said commercial traffic on the waterway has increased approximately 500 loads over last year, probably as a result of the rearmament program.

ILLINOIS GREEKS ORGANIZE WAR RELIEF DIVISION

Representatives of 350 Greek-American societies met in the Morrison hotel yesterday and elected permanent officers to head the Illinois division of the Greek War Relief association, which has launched a drive to raise $10,000,000 for relief of suffering Greek civilians.

The officers elected are: John L. Manta, chairman; Nicholas C. Jiovan and Miss Andromache Belogianis, first and second vice chairmen, respectively; Andrew G. Kanellos and Peter Tambourics, assistant treasurers, and Attorney John C. Gekas, secretary.

DATES ARE SET FOR INDUCTION OF NAVAL RESERVES

Tentative dates for the induction into active duty of 22 naval reserve divisions in the 9th Naval district were announced yesterday by Rear Admiral John Downes. They will be called under the general mobilization order issued by the navy department on Oct. 5. About 2,200 men and officers will be affected.

Seventeen divisions are expected to be called on Dec. 16 for a tour of duty in the Pacific. These divisions are from Chicago [two divisions], St. Louis [three divisions], and Kansas City, Mo.; Cleveland, Toledo, and Columbus, O.; Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee and Madison, Wis.; Rock Island, Ill.; Burlington, Ia.; Omaha, Neb., and Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

The remaining five divisions, all from Chicago, have not been notified definitly where they will be stationed. Their tentative induction dates are Nov. 29, Dec. 2, Dec. 9, and Jan. 6.

Rear Admiral Downes announced that Lewis Compton, assistant secretary of the navy, will inspect the Great Lakes Naval Training station on Dec. 2, and that on Dec. 11 Rear Admiral C. W. Mimitz, chief of the bureau of navigation, will be here to visit the station.

ADMIRAL FORBES TO HEAD BRITISH PLYMOUTH BASE

LONDON, Nov. 25, Monday (AP).—Royal appointment of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Charles M. Forbes as commander-in-chief of the Plymouth naval base, succeeding Admiral Sir Martil E. Dunbar-Naismith, was announced today. The appointment goes into effect on May 1, 1941. Forbes, 61 years old, was advanced to admiral of the fleet after, as commander of the home fleet, he had directed naval operations in the Norwegian campaign, including the successful smash into Narvik fjord.

Admiral Forbes.

In the world war he served as executive officer on the battleship Queen Elizabeth in the Dardanelles campaign.

13 Chicago and 3 Cicero Boards Tapped.

Thirteen draft boards in Chicago and three in Cicero will offer 45 men this morning for training in the army under the selective service act. They will be accepted or rejected with speedy routine procedures perfected last Monday and Tuesday when 178 out of 200 candidates were taken into the army and sent to Fort Sheridan to await assignment.

H. J. Kulczewski.

There are now 522 new recruits at Fort Sheridan including groups from Cook county, Milwaukee, Peoria, and Detroit and Cadillac, Mich.

Only One Draftee in Lot.

Only one draftee will be among those inducted today. He is Harry J. Kulczewski, 23 years old, 5424 South Hermitage avenue, a shipping clerk, registered with the 25th draft board in the 15th ward. The others have volunteered to serve their year of training before they are called.

The 45 men will be registered in the 122d Field Artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue, given physical examinations, and asked to take the soldier's oath. The first groups are scheduled to arrive at 7:30 a. m.

Those accepted will be taken to Fort Sheridan via the North Shore railroad.

There they will be classified according to aptitude, assigned to quarters, and issued uniforms and other equipment.

Call Three More Groups.

Cook county will send three more groups of selectees to the army this week. There will be 64 on Wednesday, 77 on Friday, and 76 on Saturday. The army also will claim about 400 Chicago members of the 106th cavalry, Illinois National Guard, this morning. They will be mustered into service at the same armory.

Altho selectees will receive all equipment at Fort Sheridan, the National Guardsmen will not be supplied with complete uniforms and other items of clothing until after they arrive in their training camp in Louisiana. Consequently Maj. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the local squadron, has recommended that each trooper bring his own bed linen, several changes of clothing, and other equipment.

Where Second Army Will Train

2D ARMY'S MOVE TO MEMPHIS SET FOR NEXT MONTH

Six Divisions Already Assigned to Unit.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

Headquarters of the 2d army, which has been stationed in Chicago for four years, will be moved to Memphis, Tenn., early in December, Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, 2d army commander, announced yesterday.

Memphis was chosen as the army's new headquarters because it will afford facilities for close supervision of expanding units of the army. Two hundred thousand men are expected to be in the 2d army after National Guard units and conscripts have been inducted into service in it.

Its units eventually will be stationed in 14 central states, from Minnesota and Michigan on the north to Alabama on the south.

Six Divisions Assigned.

Five infantry divisions and one cavalry division are the major units already allocated to the 2d army. Three of these divisions, including the 33d Illinois, are National Guard units having four infantry regiments organized into two infantry brigades.

These divisions make up the seventh corps. The commanding general of the corps has not been designated, altho it is known corps headquarters will be at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Two regular army streamlined divisions, the 5th and 6th, also are assigned to the 2d army. They are motorized thruout. Another major unit now partly organized is the 2d cavalry division, which includes the 14th cavalry regiment. The 1st squadron of this regiment left Fort Sheridan recently.

Following are the units and commanders of the six divisions already assigned to the 2d army:

Units of Six Divisions.

Thirty-third division, Illinois National Guard, Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commanding, to concentrate in January at Camp Peay, Tenn.

Thirty-fifth division, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, and Arkansas National Guard, Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Truman, commanding, which will train at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, near Little Rock, Ark., concentrating early in 1941.

Sixth division, regulars, Brig. Gen. Ralph Talbot Jr., commanding, to concentrate at Mark Twain National Forest, Rolla, Mo., when facilities are available.

Second cavalry division, regulars, commander not designated, which will train at Fort Riley, Kas. The only troops scheduled for this division so far are the 2d and 4th cavalry regiments, organized into the 3d cavalry brigade.

Other Units to be Formed.

In addition to these major units, the corps and army troops which would be needed to round out the 2d army into a complete fighting unit will be organized next year.

Aviation units will include three observation squadrons and one reconnaissance squadron. Four antiaircraft regiments and a 37 mm. gun battalion will provide ground defense units.

Four antitank battalions are to be set up to strengthen the antitank defense measures now provided in each combat and service unit. In addition, the war department has assigned intelligence, evacuation, and surgical and other units essential to the army.

C. I. O. ALUMINUM STRIKERS SUBMIT A NEW PROPOSAL

New Kensington, Pa., Nov. 24 (AP).—A counter proposal of striking C. I. O. union members was taken under advisement tonight by the Aluminum Company of America after union and management committees met in an effort to end a walkout of 7,500 employés at the company's plant jammed with defense orders.

A company spokesman said Nick Zonarich, international president of the Aluminum Workers of America, reiterated demands that a workman objectionable to the union be dismissed, but that the company "did not think this was a fair thing to do."

The union then proposed that the workman be placed in a job outside the bargaining group represented by the union, and the company took the suggestion "under advisement but promised nothing," the spokesman said.

Visits Mother in Hospital; Leaves; Injured; Returns

Stewart Renwick, 12 years old, visited his mother, Mrs. Florence Renwick, in the American hospital last night, where she is in serious condition after an operation. A short while after leaving he was brought back with a broken leg, incurred when he was hit by an auto as he ran to catch a trolley bus in Irving Park road. The auto was driven by Robert Wessling, 4455 Grace street. Mrs. Renwick lives at 1940 Argyle street.

HOW TO GET A $100 LOAN IN 24 HOURS

No endorsers or guarantors needed—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Monthly payments to fit your income. Quick, friendly service

WOULD you like to get a cash loan without having to ask friends or relatives for a favor? At Household Finance you can apply for $20 to $300—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make small monthly payments on your loan. We require no stocks or bonds, no wage or salary assignment. You borrow on your own signature (no friends need sign)—and at rates substantially below the lawful maximum.

Choose your own payment plan

See, in the table below, how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments which fit your own income. You may repay in small installments spread over 20 months. Or you may repay sooner to reduce the charges. Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.77 each will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months will also repay a $100 loan.

Same rate to everyone

Installments in the table cover everything. They include charges at the rate of 2¼% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only one rate—the same to everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

No one else need know

When you borrow at Household, there is no need to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) We do not ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should be faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

If a loan will help you, you are urged to look at the table again. Then phone or visit us for further information. You'll be under no obligation to borrow.

WEATHER AIDS STALEMATE IN VULTEE STRIKE

Delays Arrival of New Negotiators.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24 [Special].—Weather and arguments of men today combined to keep the Vultee Aircraft, Inc., strike negotiations stalemated after 10 days of discussion between C. I. O. and company officials.

Maj. Sidney Simpson.

Grounded at Kansas City, Mo., by inclement flying conditions, principals of both the union and the department of labor conciliation service were delayed 24 hours on their journey to Los Angeles.

Negotiating Committee Meets.

The C. I. O.-Vultee negotiating committee went into its customary secret sessions, admitting as it adjourned them that no compromise had been effected, altho arbitration still continued over the final two points of disagreement. These concern future strikes and discussions.

Maj. Sidney Simpson, war department representative, did not attend the conference. He previously was accused by union officials of having hampered the negotiations because he was constantly intoxicated. He denied this.

Maj. Simpson is a reserve officer who was sent out from Washington, D. C., by Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson to impress both sides to the Vultee dispute that it is necessary in the interest of national defense for them to get together. He was specifically instructed that he was not to act as a conciliator or negotiator, the war office said. When Patterson learned of the charges against Simpson he recalled him. Simpson planned to leave late today.

Communist Charge Denied.

Aroused by reports that the department of justice had announced possession of evidence that communist influence was a major factor in the strike, which has paralyzed production on $84,000,000 worth of military planes, Wyndham Mortimer, international U. A. W. officer, telegraphed a protest to Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, saying:

"Vultee strikers resent your statement reflecting on our loyalty and Americanism and its obvious purpose to divide our ranks. Starvation, not isms, is the cause of the present strike."

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 24 (AP).—The Montgomery Ward and company department store in downtown Lafayette was destroyed by fire today with a loss estimated at about $250,000. The cause was not known. Two firemen were injured.

REPORT PLACES BULK OF ALIENS IN TEN STATES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24 (AP).—An indication that approximately 80 per cent of the nation's aliens live in only 10 states, most of them industrial, was contained in a report today by the justice department.

Earl G. Harrison, director of registration, said that 3,051,534 aliens had been registered up to Nov. 22, out of an expected total of about 3,600,000. The final day for registration [after which there is a $1,000 fine, six months in prison or both] is Dec. 26.

Of the total already reigstered, 2,502,056 were in 10 states, as follows: New York, 739,528; California, 327,353; Massachusetts, 267,758; Pennsylvania, 252,250; Illinois, 186,816; Michigan, 184,024; New Jersey, 177,532; Texas, 137,375; Ohio, 121,159; Connecticut, 108,261.

Three Children Killed in Flames; Mother Injured

Shepherdsville, Ky., Nov. 24 (AP).—Three sisters, the oldest of them 5 years old, burned to death in their home here today while their mother sought frantically to rescue them. The mother, Mrs. Catherine Edmunds Mudd, 25, left the children to go for a pail of water on the first floor of the home. Screams of the children were her first notice of danger, but flames along the stairway prevented her from reaching them. She was burned about the face in the attempt.

TWO WITNESSES IN UNION LOOTING TRIAL DISAPPEAR

Sought for Testimony in Case Against Nitti.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Two witnesses whose testimony was planned as an important link in the chain of evidence by which the authorities hope to send Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and members of his gang to prison as union plunderers were reported missing yesterday. Nitti and six aids are slated for trial today in the criminal court of Judge John F. Bolton on charges of conspiracy to seize local 278 of the Bartenders' and Beverage Dispensers' union.

William Salvatore.

William Salvatore, former assistant business agent of the union and brother-in-law of George B. McLane, who is Nitti's principal accuser, could not be found by subpena servers. Margaret Meyers, head bookkeeper of the union and confidante of James Crowley, secretary and treasurer of the union, has disappeared, detectives said.

Expected to Verify Testimony.

Salvatore and Miss Meyers were expected to verify and corroborate the testimony of McLane, veteran business agent of the union who obtained a court receivership to protect it from looters whom he said were agents of Nitti.

The continuation of that receivership depends on a decision this afternoon by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Circuit court. McLane, who made peace with some of his union foes and has seen others ousted from the union, told the court the receivership is needed no longer.

The criminal trial of Nitti and his henchmen has no bearing on the receivership case. Roy D. Keehn was put in charge of the union as receiver and he has been coöperating with State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. If the receivership is not terminated today by Judge Dunne, the receiver said he has plans for the supervision of an election of union officers on Jan. 6.

Trial Expected to Go On.

"Nitti's trial is expected to start Monday," said Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, "and it will proceed, whether Salvatore and Miss Meyers are found or not, so far as the state is concerned. The basis of the prosecution is McLane's story."

Nitti's co-defendants are Murray Humphreys, public enemy of many years standing, Louis [Little New York] Campagna, Paul [War Department] Ricca, Frederick Evans, Nitti's financial agent; Louis Romano, former president of the bartenders' union, and Thomas Panton, ex-business agent of the barmen.

Their indictment resulted from the story of McLane, Salvatore, and others that in 1935 Nitti, as successor to Al Capone in ruling the local gambling, vice, and bootlegging syndicate, decided to take charge of the bartenders' union and run it as an agency of his proposed liquor empire. Nitti, the unionists charged, terrorized union officers until they were willing to accept Romano, first as an employé and later as president.

SEEK 2 KIDNAP SUSPECTS AFTER KENOSHA ATTACK

Chicago police last night were seeking two men on information provided by police of Kenosha, Wis., that they might have kidnaped a third after beating him unconscious on a Kenosha street. Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Rodovich, who heard the victim cry for help, saw his assailants push him into their car and drive away after he had lost consciousness. From their window the witnesses noted the number of the car's 1940 Illinois license plate and turned it in to police. Inquiries here led to the discovery the license plate had been reported stolen Friday.

EVANSTON MAYOR WILL ACT TODAY ON NEW TAXI LAW

Mayor Henry D. Penfield of Evanston will decide today whether to veto or approve the suburb's proposed new taxicab ordinance, passed by the city council a week ago. Civic groups have asked the mayor to veto the ordinance, which raises rates, prohibits drivers from soliciting passengers at bus stops, and gives wide regulatory powers to a commission of three aldermen.

Mayor Penfield indicated dissatisfaction with the ordinance yesterday.

Is this the way you'd picture the RICHEST MARKET in the WORLD?

RICH people are good customers. There's no doubt about that. We can admit this fact freely, because The American Weekly reaches more families with incomes of over $5,000 than any other magazine published.

But this fact doesn't fool us — and it shouldn't fool you. There just aren't enough rich families, even in the United States.

And most of the buying in this country is done by people who never heard of Dun and Bradstreet.

What the Government's figures show

Is there any question about it? Government figures show that the families with incomes of $20 to $40 a week ($1,000 to $2,000 a year) spend a total ten times as great as families with incomes of $20,000 a year.

The real buying families are, in other words, the great American public — the people with steady jobs and a good reputation for honesty; people who are able to use their credit and buy out of income.

Maybe this is news to you—but it's no news to the automobile industry. It manages to sell over 3,000,000 new cars a year.

It's no news to the electric refrigerator industry, which now has more than 14 million of its products in use in American homes. This figure, incidentally, is twice as large as the total number of families with incomes of $2,000 and over.

That's why The American Weekly is important

This mighty magazine reaches more families in every income classification than any other magazine published.

It reaches them in the richest buying areas, where $4 out of every $5 are earned and are spent.

It reaches a market with a bigger annual purchasing power than the TOTAL of all the billions America has earmarked for defense.

Cock-A-Doodle-Doo!

Beginning January 5, The American Weekly will be distributed with the Philadelphia Record and the Miami Herald and this means the greatest circulation (more than 7,000,000 A. B. C.) in the history of The Weekly.

HOMEWOOD AUTO CRASH INJURES FIVE SERIOUSLY

Driver of One Car Held After Collision.

Five persons were injured seriously yesterday when two automobiles collided at 183d street and highway 49, west of Homewood. County highway police are holding William Neely, 21 years old, colored, of 519 East 44th street, driver of one car.

Those seriously hurt are Mrs. Anthony Stripeik, 22, of 3244 West 41st street, whose husband was the driver of the other car; her father, Casimir Firovich, 45; her mother, Violet, 40, and a brother, John, 8, of 2339 South Hoyne avenue, and Mrs. Odella Neely, 27, of the 44th street address, an aunt of Neely's. Stripeik and George Firovich, 11, were injured slightly. Mr. and Mrs. Firovich and their son, George, are in Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey. The others are in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights.

Sergt. Anton Paulus of the Homewood station quoted witnesses as saying Neely's car, traveling at a high rate of speed, crashed into Stripeik's car after the latter had pulled into route 49.

Martin Baron, 69, of 4350 Sheffield avenue, Hammond, a laborer, was fatally injured by an automobile at 133d street and Avenue O. The driver, Leslie F. Rosengren, 6125 South Kildare avenue, took him to South Chicago hospital, where he died a short while later.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 790 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 574 were killed in Chicago, where 21,402 were injured during the same period.

Injured in Crash

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, was in Sanford, Fla., yesterday at the hospital bedside of his daughter, Betty, who is suffering from a severe brain concussion as the result of an automobile accident Friday night on a fog-bound road. Dr. Bundesen and his son, Russell, flew to Sanford Saturday upon learning of the accident.

Miss Bundesen, who is 20 years old and a member of the famous Abbott dancers, apparently was returning to Rollins college with another student, Miss Betty Jean Hadden of Marion, Pa., when their car struck a truck which burned. Miss Hadden's injuries were not serious. The college is at Winter Park, Fla., 12 miles from Sanford.

Mrs. Bundesen, reached at her home here, said that Dr. Bundesen and Russell probably will remain in Florida until Miss Bundesen is out of danger.

Hollywood, Nov. 24 (AP).—Bette Davis would rather have been Pavlowa than Bette Davis. As boys, Dick Powell and George Burns had burning desires to be street car conductors.

Hollywood unmasked its childhood ambitions at a party given by Edgar Bergen last night. In accord with Bergen's request that guests come as the persons they had hoped to be, Miss Davis wore a brief flaring skirt, long black stockings and toe dancers' slippers.

Also dancers—but harem dancers—were Rosalind Russell and Betty Grable, Rosalind in a slinky black chiffon and Betty in a white, filmy outfit, bare about the midriff. Miss Grable was with Jackie Coogan, her former husband, who came as an African potentate.

Powell and Burns wore identical uniforms. Joan Blondell wore a south seas wrap around a garment of violent colors, and Gracie Allen was in Hawaiian dress.

TRUCKERS URGED TO CO-OPERATE IN WAR ON ROBBERY

The Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday that new precautions against motor truck hijacking in the Chicago area have been put into effect thru the coördinated plans of the Chicago police department, Cook county and state highway police, and the federal bureau of investigation.

A bulletin to shippers advised them to coöperate with the officials to reduce robberies. The association reported that while not a single hijacking was reported during the year ending Oct. 1, three cases of hijacking have occurred since then.

William Gybbons... He Insured First?

'HINDSIGHT AND FORESIGHT'
a weekly column by
Holgar J. Johnson
President Institute of Life Insurance

THE origin of life insurance is lost in antiquity, but there is a record of one case going back to 1583.

In that year, "William Gybbons, citizen and salter of London," is said to have bought a year's protection for £32, and died within the year. His beneficiaries collected £400. Each year approximately 60,000 Americans die within a year of taking out a policy and their beneficiaries are paid over 60 million dollars.

JOHNSON

William Gybbons' "policy" insured his life for one year only. This is the simplest form of life insurance, and is, called term insurance, meaning that it protects the insured for a specified period.

This type of policy has been greatly improved through the years and is useful today for temporary purposes—as, for example, when a man is paying off a debt and doesn't want his estate burdened with the debt. Or he may need more protection, temporarily, than he can afford in a permanent form; sometimes, also, a man may wish to protect his interest in a business which is just getting under way.

The drawbacks of term insurance as permanent insurance are that the premiums go up as a man grows older and that it has little or no cash value. As lifetime protection, therefore, most people prefer the more modern forms of life insurance. There are several of these, the most popular of which is "straight life."

These modern forms have different uses, but they are alike in that the premium is fixed for the term of the policy and in that they build up values which may be used to provide income for you if you outlive your beneficiaries' need for protection.

This regular Monday column is provided by the Institute of Life Insurance to permit its President to speak to America's policy owners. Address inquiries to the Institute at 60 East 42nd St., New York City.

A. F. L. PREPARES A BLAST AGAINST THURMAN ARNOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Nov. 24.—The American Federation of Labor, in the final week of its annual convention, is expected to approve a bitter criticism of Assistant Attorney general Thurman Arnold's policy of making labor unions defendants in antitrust law prosecutions.

Thurman Arnold.

Arnold has already been held up as a target by the federation's executive council. In its report this body declared he had started a "stubborn, capricious, and irresponsible drive" against labor and that this concentrated legal warfare is threatening to destroy all the economic gains made by unions in 60 years. Formation of a statement on Arnold is in the hands of the committee on resolutions.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL, 16, KILLED BY CAR FUMES IN GARAGE

June Myrtle Vossberg, 16 years old, a third year student at Mercy High school, was found dead of monoxide poisoning last night seated at the wheel of her father's car in the garage behind her home at 8029 Prairie avenue.

The father, Herman, driver for a soft drink company, told Capt. Arthur Driscoll of the Burnside police that the girl had driven him to the home of a friend earlier in the evening and had failed to wait. Vossberg said his daughter, an only child, had been ill and under a physician's care. Mrs. Vossberg died about a year ago.

MORE HOSTESSES EVERY DAY ARE SERVING WINE WITH DINNER

TIPS ON SERVING WINE

TABLE WINES go best with meals. They are made "dry" (not sweet) to complement food. Try tart, red Burgundy or Claret; delicate, golden Sauterne or Chablis (well chilled) . . . in servings half water glass size.

SWEET WINES go best with refreshments and desserts. They are made rich with the natural sweetness of the grape. Try red Port or golden Muscatel, in a small glass.

AN APPETIZER WINE like Sherry is best before dinner. Sherry is amber, nutlike in flavor. It is usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

SERVING THE BEVERAGE with the meal is one of those happy ideas almost everybody seems to welcome. Do you know why?

The golden gleam of Sauterne or the ruby radiance of Burgundy brings glamour to your table. And with any dinner or luncheon, wine adds amazingly to your enjoyment of food.

No need for fuss or frills. Just set an extra glass at each place and bring on your bottle of wine with the main course. Why don't you try it next time you have guests for dinner?

ALL-BRAN'S BETTER WAY TO FIGHT CONSTIPATION CERTAINLY BEATS "TEMPORARY RELIEF"

YOU'LL REALLY LIKE ALL-BRAN'S "BETTER WAY"

IT'S A REAL BREAK when you can fight off that old enemy, constipation, due to lack of "bulk" with a crunchy, ready-to-eat cereal. Eat ALL-BRAN with sugar and cream; try covering it with fruit. And don't forget that ALL-BRAN also makes the most delicious bran muffins you ever tasted. Recipe on every package.

Copyright, 1940, by Kellogg Company

IF YOU SUFFER from the common kind of constipation that is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, here's some common-sense advice.

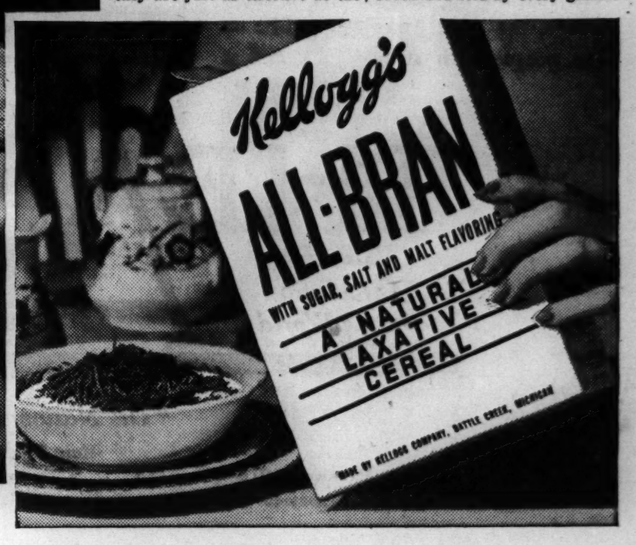
INSTEAD OF enduring the trouble first, and then taking medicines for temporary relief, why not get at the cause and correct it by regularly eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN?

Do you know ALL-BRAN's "better way" to combat constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet? It is winning people everywhere for two simple reasons.

First, its regular use both corrects the trouble and prevents its recurrence. That's a whole lot better than the mere temporary relief that emergency medicines so often provide. And, second, it is much more pleasant to eat this crisp, toasted cereal for breakfast than to depend on continual "dosing." Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars."

You'll like ALL-BRAN in muffins, too. This delicious cereal makes the most marvelous muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! And they are just as effective as the cereal itself. You'll find the recipe for ALL-BRAN muffins on every package.

Be sure, however, to get the genuine KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Accept no substitute. ALL-BRAN is backed by 20 years of experience and millions of satisfied users. It is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek and sold by every grocer.



DEWEY TO HELP CITY GET SHARE OF ARMS AWARDS

Congressman's Office to Be Clearing House.

Charles S. Dewey, newly elected congressman from the 9th district, announced yesterday on his return from Washington, D. C., that he intends to make his office a clearing house for information which will enable manufacturers of the Chicago area to obtain their share of defense contracts.

Charles S. Dewey.

He conferred in Washington with war and navy department officials and members of the national defense commission to ascertain why Chicago, the second largest industrial area of the United States, was receiving only a small portion of the billions being spent on armament.

Finds Advisor Is Needed.

"My inquiries reveal a glaring need for some one to advise manufacturers, especially the smaller ones, on the proper procedure to follow so they can obtain war orders they can fill," Dewey said.

"The officials I met assured me that there is no discrimination against Chicago. Furthermore, they admitted that because of its strategic location Chicago's facilities should be utilized to the utmost.

"One trouble is that many manufacturers in this area, particularly the operators of smaller plants, have never had any dealings with the government and do not know the various steps which have to be taken to obtain federal contracts.

"I intend to make my office a clearing house for information of that type. I stand ready to help any factory head who desires to go after some of this government business. A Chicago shipbuilder appealed to me for aid while I was in Washington, and I believe he will shortly receive a contract for building some small boats for the navy."

Job Promise Recalled.

Dewey said that he was elected to congress on a promise to help obtain jobs for his constituents in private industry, and that he felt that if the Chicago area gets its fair share of contracts under the huge defense program the expanding demand for both skilled and unskilled workers will be so great that unemployment will be greatly reduced.

"For that reason," he said, "I am going to do everything in my power to smooth the way in Washington for concerns that want to take over arms contracts and thus help create more jobs."

FLAMES ATTACK BLOCKHOUSE IN DEARBORN GROUP

Fire, presumably started by transients, destroyed the interior and the roof of the log blockhouse on the northwest corner of the replica of old Fort Dearborn at 26th street and the lake late yesterday. It was the second time flames have attacked the building, which has been virtually abandoned since the close of A Century of Progress exposition.

A passing motorist reported the fire at 4 p. m. and firemen battled the flames in the dry old logs two hours before they were extinguished. Marshal Anthony Seaman of the 4th division estimated the damage at $1,000.

The original Fort Dearborn stood near the south end of the Michigan avenue bridge from 1803 until it was burned in the 1812 massacre.

QUISLING FOLLOWERS LINKED TO GASOLINE SWINDLE IN OSLO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 24.—Police of Oslo, Norway, today announced the discovery of a gasoline swindle in which many leading followers of Maj. Vidkun Quisling, head of the Nazi controled Norwegian government, seem to be involved.

Despite strict rationing, 100,000 liters of gasoline [about 26,400 gallons] have been sold on stolen cards or without cards. The police announced the arrest of one retailer accused of having illegally sold about 63,000 gallons in two months.

As reported by Swedish correspondents, the fraud was not uncovered earlier because the culprits were said to have sold to Nazi party leaders and the police feared a scandal. Members of the German armed forces, officials, and Quisling men were said to have bought freely.

COUP ENDANGERS BILL DESIGNED TO CURB BUROCRATS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24 (AP).—Senate opponents of the Walter-Logan bill, it was reported today, may offer antilynching legislation as an amendment—a step regarded as certain to provoke a filibuster by southern members and assure the eventual death of the measure.

The senate will vote tomorrow on whether to take up the bill, which would prescribe uniform procedure for quasi-judicial government agencies and would expedite appeals to the courts from their decisions. The house passed the measure last June over administration opposition.

If tomorrow's vote is favorable, some senators said, an antilynching amendment is expected to follow. Among those who said that this action was probable was Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana, the defeated Democratic whip and an opponent of the Walter-Logan bill.

RIPS U. S. MOVE TO CUT DOWN ON PRIVATE PLANES

New York, Nov. 24 [Special].—Grover Loening, aeronautical engineer, inventor, and manufacturer, asserted today that the war department's proposal to curtail commercial plane production to make factory room for warplanes would deal "a staggering blow" to the aviation industry.

Loening, who was chief aeronautical engineer of the United States army in 1914 and 1915, added that acceptance of the proposal would be "the first step in ending the commercial operations of the air lines themselves." He declared that it would be "almost the equivalent of sabotage—and what many of us predicted in the Willkie campaign on the socialization of aviation would be starting."

Officials in Washington, D. C., confirmed today that the war department had made the curtailment proposal to the priorities board.

SLAIN CONVICT'S BROTHER SHOT IN TAVERN QUARREL

Valentine McGuire, 37 years old, 6009 Halsted street, was shot twice in the groin yesterday in a quarrel in the washroom of a tavern at 5965 Halsted street. Lieut. Thomas O'Donnell of the Englewood police said McGuire is a brother of John McGuire, who was shot and killed in a battle with police Oct. 7, 1939, about two months after he had escaped from Joliet penitentiary. John McGuire had been serving a 1 to 14 year sentence for killing his sweetheart.

Englewood police said Valentine McGuire also has a record. Files in the detective bureau showed he served two one-year terms in the Bridewell for auto theft and tampering with an auto, and a year in the county jail for impersonating a policeman.

Witnesses told police the shooting occurred at 2:45 a. m., but police were not notified until noon yesterday. Lieut. O'Donnell said McGuire was taken home after the shooting by Miss Charlotte Doody, who lives with McGuire's family. Police took McGuire to Bridewell hospital. His assailant has not been captured.

THIEVES LOOT DOCTOR'S AUTO.

Dr. Otto B. Pavlin, 2400 South Avers avenue, attending obstetrician at St. Anthony's hospital, reported to police yesterday that thieves broke into his automobile Saturday night and stole surgical instruments and drugs valued at $250. The car was parked in front of 41 East Chicago avenue.

AMERICA WITHOUT ARMS.

The war department has confirmed the report that 46 of the four engined American bombing planes have been released to Great Britain. Twenty of these long range planes are Boeing flying fortresses, already in operation in the United States army air corps. Twenty-six are uncompleted Consolidated Aircraft company's B-24s, intended for the air corps. These bombers, with their load, have a flying range of 3,000 miles and are said to be able to do more if required. They are supposed to have no equal in any European air force.

At Randolph field, Texas, the reporters visiting army posts at the invitation of the army general staff found that the requirements of the school in planes are only three-fourths filled. The school is expanding and the number of student pilots increasing, but there aren't enough planes and engines. At Fort Sill, Oklahoma, the newspaper guests of the army found that the army's artillery school was without modern artillery pieces except for a few pack howitzers. The school has the officers for training but they and the enlisted men are using obsolete artillery.

Mr. Henning, in his report from Washington, says that figures of the shipments of arms to Great Britain are not complete, but that the William Allen White committee, organized to promote this aid, is authority for the statement that 150 shiploads of American army and navy equipment have been sent, including 80,000 machine guns, 700 field guns, and 500,000 rifles. The bulk of this material is out of date, most of it being left over from the other world war.

Production of modern material is as yet on order, and to equip the British the arsenals have been stripped of the material on hand. This situation is alarming. A more efficient production of weapons and munitions must be found.

Meanwhile the American government, altho it has talked of emergency ever since the outbreak of the war, over a year ago, and altho it threw the emergency into the high gear of a war scare last April, has not produced weapons and does not expect to be able to supply them in quantity for a year or more.

The army men speak of the new program as reaching its desired form some time in '42. Meanwhile, the material on hand has been depleted for other forces and the men being inducted into service, the members of the National Guard and the reserves that are called out, are without equipment, even for training. Not only army but naval equipment has been transferred to Great Britain.

Explanations and justifications are offered for this policy. For instance, with regard to the bombers, the army men say there is a compensation in the engines to be released to us by the British and also in the opportunity of testing out the American airships in action. Now it is all very well to arm England on the theory that she is our first line of defense, but if she should find it desirable or necessary to make peace while we are in an unarmed condition, things might go hard with us.

The point to be made in the present circumstances is that the persons who have taken the war material away from this country and given it to another should pipe down on their extravagant or hysterical utterances and urgings. The United States needs a period of preparation before it becomes bellicose. It has, in effect, entered a war without being able to fight one. It has disposed of much of its available material and it hasn't produced modern weapons. It is raising men and it is unable to equip them.

The war mongers who have produced this situation should hush their provocations and incentives to conflict. This country will have its hands full without the additional trouble they can make.

SENATOR BARKLEY'S RESERVATION.

When Wayland Brooks took his oath as senator from Illinois, Senator Barkley of Kentucky asserted that he was reserving the right to object later. His action was obviously based on the hope that Senator Slattery, whom Senator Brooks defeated, will start some sort of a contest.

If there were any doubt as to the validity of Senator Brooks' election, which there is not, Senator Barkley is the last man any honest Democrat would choose to dispute it. The country has not forgotten that Barkley's own renomination and election to the senate were procured by shameless bribery of the voters of Kentucky with federal funds. It was a use of money which President Roosevelt not only condoned but brazenly recommended in his statement reminding Kentuckians of the grants that he had been pleased to bestow on his yes-man, and it was so flagrant that it aroused the indignation of a senate investigating committee, the majority of whose members were of Barkley's own party.

There is not enough partisan greed in the senate of the United States to make successful any move to unseat Senator Brooks for such a character as Strongbox Slattery. Slattery bears a double stigma, that of the strongbox and that of the disgraceful secret deal to keep him in office, by which a few renegade Republicans were persuaded to attempt at the last minute to knife the nominee of their own party.

In any event, the grand jury is still sitting at Springfield. It is entirely possible that Strongbox will be too busy there as a defendant to appear in Washington as a plaintiff.

SPENDING MONEY TO GET MONEY.

The Cook county government, on its present estimates of revenue, will fall nearly $5,000,000 short of the money necessary to continue its 1941 operations on the scale on which they are now operated.

That fact alone should be an impelling reason for the help committee of the Circuit court, which rather unwisely has been given the power of fixing the number of employés in county fee offices, to refuse all requests for additional employés and, going further, to require the office holders to reduce their present swollen staffs.

There appears to be one exception, however. If by a moderate expenditure the county's revenue can be increased by some millions of dollars, that expenditure is justified. On this basis there is considerable merit in County Treasurer Toman's request for $125,000 with which to set up a bureau of delinquent tax collections in his office.

The bureau would operate under a carefully thought out plan resulting from a survey of the delinquent tax situation sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Enough preliminary experiments have been conducted to give assurance that the proposed bureau would be at least moderately effective in reducing the present mountain of delinquent taxes.

Collection of those taxes will be of especial benefit to the county government, since in addition to its own levies it receives the penalties on unpaid taxes. For a number of years the tax penalties have been all that have kept the county out of bankruptcy. This year, for the first time, the penalty collections failed to reach the usually conservative estimate made by the county's fiscal aids when the 1940 budget was made. Penalty revenues may be expected to decline further unless a more active collection policy is adopted.

Treasurer Toman has given informal assurances that he has no desire to use the 42 new jobs in the proposed collection bureau as political patronage. Such a course would, of course, be fatal to the purposes of the bureau. Precinct captains and their sisters and nephews would not give the bureau a personnel capable of handling its business.

If Mr. Toman would make his informal assurances formal by giving the president of the Association of Commerce and other public groups authority in advance to act as an employment committee and select the personnel of the bureau, no substantial objection could be offered to the judges' committee authorizing the expenditure. Indeed, the bureau seems the only means in sight of pulling the county out of its present financial mess.

NEW FLORIDA TRAIN SERVICE.

This is the season of the year when the thoughts of winter vacationers and our migratory population turn to Florida. For a number of years this department has been calling for an improvement in train service between Chicago and that southland playground. During eight months of the year the best train service available from Chicago to Miami has been a tiresome journey of from 39 to 40 hours. Buses operating over the public highways on a year-round schedule have maintained a service no slower than this. The fastest train we have had during the remaining four months consumed 31 hours and 40 minutes for the journey, and the next fastest trains 34 hours and 45 minutes.

The distance from Chicago to Miami is less than 100 miles greater than from New York, and yet New York people for some time have had Diesel electric powered streamlined coach trains running on a 25 hour schedule and two de luxe Pullman trains on a 26¼ hour schedule, with several trains operating on a basis of only a few minutes longer than these special services.

That our complaints have been recognized by the railroads involved is indicated by their recent announcement of a new service beginning Dec. 17 of "three luxury coach streamliners." These three trains bearing the euphonious names, Dixie Flagler, City of Miami, and the South Wind, will provide daily service, each operating out of Chicago every third day on a 29½ hour schedule to Miami. Each of the trains will be of the modern streamlined type. Two will use steam and the third Diesel power.

In addition to the improvement in the time schedule the trains will be equipped with individually adjustable seats, which will be reserved at no extra cost, and other features which heretofore have been used only on the extra-fare luxury type passenger trains, including modern diner, tavern, lounge, and observation cars, stewardess, porter service, etc.

Railroads are beginning to realize that the real competition comes not from other railroads, but from other forms of transportation. They have handicapped themselves with a policy of holding both passenger and freight speeds between important centers to speeds which can be conveniently made by the circuitous routes rather than to the speed which is possible over the shortest route. We believe experience will demonstrate that a 25 hour service between Chicago and Miami is entirely feasible, and this will be the mark for the roads to shoot at in the not too distant future.

With the installation of this modern sleeper coach service an improvement in the Pullman type of service which many travelers desire will naturally follow.

Editorial of the Day

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Up in the rock-ribbed hills of Republican Vermont an experiment is going forward—huge windmills are being erected to furnish auxiliary electric power. Four years of research are behind these windmills. Private capital is building them. The huge propeller blades which will presently catch the winds atop Grandpa's Knob are no New Deal fantasy. Hardheaded stalwarts are staking their dollars on the venture.

We do not know how the experiment will turn out. Perhaps the Vermont individualists will lose the money they are putting in the venture. Perhaps they are starting something a thousand others will one day copy. But one admires them for using the good old American way to find out the value of their ideas.

These Vermonters did not take their ideas to Washington as the basis of a "project." They did not look to Uncle Sam to do their experimenting for them. They took the direct way. With their own money they developed their plans. With their own money they will complete them—for profit or loss.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

MR. PEPYS GOES INTO TRADE.

24th Nov.—Now I see by the public prints that the Yuletide shopping time has started and every one is expected to go running to the stores to buy gifts, so perhaps I should start my own sales campaign for the Line Book of 1940. It comes out next Friday, and you will find it on the newsstands for the cost of a good cigar or a bus ride. Many of my customers, however, live in other towns, and they are always writing me to ask how they can buy the book, so I will tell them again to send their orders to the Public Service office of the Tribune, with 3 cents extra to pay for the postage.

When I was at the press veterans' dinner last month, a sarcastic old journalist [aren't we all?] asked me why I tried so hard to sell my book at the Christmas season, as if I were a fellow in trade. I told him if he would go to a book store any time, he would find there some author trying to sell his book, by making speeches, and autographing copies; and any ink stained wretch who has a book in print, no matter how high his fame or noble his mind, will stand on his head or imitate an organ grinder's monkey to sell a few copies. I have not the slightest doubt that Mr. Shakespeare, when one of his plays was being acted, never failed to stop at the box office and ask, "How's the sale tonight?"

I think you will like the cover design this year, because it agrees with the title of the column for the first time in the history of the Line Books, and it also celebrates the 500th anniversary of the invention of printing. The man who drew it was Ben Cohen, of the staff of this newspaper; and maybe later on I will tell you about him and all the other artists who have drawn Line Book covers.

PHASES OF THE MOON.

Why does the moon need her sickle bright?
What does she harvest all thru the night?
O, she cuts the corn for Taurus the Bull,
And Charles' Wain keeps forever full;
For the Great Bear's porridge she reaps oats,
And what do you think she feeds the Goats?
While the horses of Phoebus with flying mane
Every morning must have their golden grain.
With her sickle keen she reaps and reaps,
But some of her harvest, of course, she keeps,

Inscription on a Drop Curtain.

Our host, eager to give a young immigrant a visual lesson in American history, took me to the first matinée performance of "Barbara Frietchie," a play by Clyde Fitch, starring Julia Marlowe, at the new Illinois theater on Oct. 20, 1902. While somewhat hazy of the contents of the play I vividly recall the beautiful velour drop curtain with its heavy gold fringe border, the coat of arms of the state of Illinois embroidered in its center.

Eventually, it swept upward to reveal a huge painting of a bit of Illinois landscape, a glorious cornfield, on the asbestos curtain behind it. Painted by the scenic artist, St. John Lewis, it remained the continual source of pleasure at each succeeding visit to the Illinois.

"O dreamer of the days,
Murmurer of roundelays,
All unsung of words and books,
Sing green fields and running brooks."

LIP READING FOR THE HARD OF HEARING.

THE old adage "necessity is the mother of invention" holds true in respect to lip reading. Hard of hearing persons decline to be left out of the conversation and hence many will train themselves to identify words thru watching the motions of the mouth. The main requirement is keen observation.

In the bustle of social and business contacts, deaf individuals need every possible assistance lest they develop an introspective, unsocial attitude which may definitely decrease their earning power. In consequence, many become versed in the interpretation of words and are able to grasp every thought that is expressed, even tho each syllable is not enunciated with precision.

This useful plan, called "hearing thru the eye," has served with great effectiveness. It is just as valuable to ears that are but slightly dulled as to those with a more pronounced type of defect. Many take to it naturally, while others will require the most intensive instruction if efficiency is to be acquired.

First of all, in solving the problem of the deaf child, parents must be willing to coöperate. There really is no justification for prejudice. Youngsters want to be a part of the schoolroom, to be able to play with others; not kept apart because they cannot grasp what is going on. Unless some outlet is provided a great deal of unhappiness may ensue.

In one of our large city school systems lessons in the method reduced by 50 per cent the number of grades repeated by these students. Furthermore, alertness was developed in body movements and facial expressions that appeared to add to intelligence.

The time to start is when the boy or girl is young; when he is naturally more observant and will become eye-minded. In fact, some will become so expert that progress in studies will be normal or above. Occasionally the teachers will be unable to distinguish this group from those who have a normal auditory apparatus.

Of course, the eyes must be perfect. If not, correction with spectacles is rule number one. The case is related of a girl of 12 with an 80 per cent ear defect, but who was a proficient lip reader. At a distance, however, she could make out but little. With the proper adjustment of vision she became the star scholar of her class.

Not the least of the many advantages is lessened mental strain and anxiety. Children can see the teacher's lips and those of every pupil who is reciting before the class. If they are skilled, little will go on of which they are unaware.

Sound is probably our most important avenue of communication. Nevertheless, when we are addressing a companion we look him in the eye as a natural aid to attention. This common trait makes comprehension easy. Many of these children will understand remarks that are uttered in a low tone, out of the corner of the mouth. Sometimes this talent adds to the consternation of all who are present.

Even for adults the system may be of more value in rehabilitation than electrical aids. Certainly if taught in childhood it can function as an educational factor—connecting an island with the mainland.

TROUBLE WITH FINGERS.

C. D. writes: What causes the tendons in the fingers of a woman of 60 to become tightened? The sensation is that of "drawing" her fingers.

REPLY.

While there are other causes, the chances are that the trouble is some form of arthritis. In severe cases the fingers become clawlike. We have a number of suggestions that may be helpful in arthritis. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for this material.

TONIC?

C. M. writes: I have heard that wine and egg are good body builders. Is there any truth in this?

REPLY.

Yes, if you are run down and require additional food. A raw egg, however, is slightly more difficult to digest than one that is boiled three or four minutes.

BUTTERMILK.

Miss H. J. writes: What benefit does an adult derive from buttermilk?

REPLY.

Plenty of lactic acid organisms, which prevent the growth of dangerous bacteria in the intestinal canal. Furthermore, the nutritious elements of milk are present except butterfat.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE LINEN INDUSTRY.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—In your editorial, "Infant Industries Born of War," you mention industries that are of little importance to our country as far as increased employment or national defense is concerned. You advocate the purchase of goods which are competitive to an extreme with our largest industries and the inroads of which from British sources must create unemployment and closing of many of our factories. As to cotton and wool, our agriculture and live stock industries would be made to suffer worse than ever now, to the point of extinction.

As to linens, Britain cannot ship us much of such materials. She has hardly enough for herself. In fact, fibers of flax are hoarded by the British government. Linen consumption is drastically curtailed. Those things are necessary for national defense and Great Britain has produced less than 10 per cent of her requirements.

The linen industries in Europe employ as high as 60,000 men and women in many individual factories and mills. These mills are up to date. These industries are not here at all. Why your newspaper should not editorialize on the development of such industries in this country is hard to understand. DAVID MILNER.

HINT TO THE BUS COMPANY.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—I see a headline: "Bus Company's Stand Perils Traction Loan." The bus company should change its slogan from service with a smile to the following: "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You."

No other transportation company under the sun has been fed with so many favors as the bus company, all at the expense and inconvenience of the riding public. Now by its unexpected statement it endangers once more Chicago's transit improvement program. E. R.

PACKAGES TO ENGLAND.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Mr. James E. Mears suggests in his letter that we send sugar and tea to England. I have all my folks there and certainly would like to do this, but I'm sure it is impossible, as there is a heavy duty on both. Also in order to send a package there an affidavit stamped by a notary public is necessary [a fee of 25 cents each]. I tried to mail two small packages for Christmas gifts, and was told at the postoffice I had to have a filled in affidavit for each one.

WHAT IS A LEGAL SUMMONS?

Chicago, Nov. 18.—I cannot understand the legal basis upon which the city council has recently passed the parking ordinance. From newspaper accounts of the law it would seem that the officer would be allowed to attach a ticket to the car of the motorist and this would be deemed a good summons for the motorist. It is a fundamental rule of law that such service is absolutely void; inasmuch as to be good it must be served personally.

How can the council revise this rule of law which has been accepted as good law thruout the history of English and American jurisprudence? JAY GORAN.

TO CONGRESSMAN DIES.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—I have written to Congressman Dies saying:

"Some time ago I wrote my former senator, Mr. Slattery, asking him if the activities of the English Speaking union were to be investigated by the Dies committee. I received a letter of acknowledgment, but that is all. I still would appreciate knowing if such an investigation has been made.

"I would also appreciate knowing if the persons responsible for spreading traitorous propaganda advocating 'Union Now,' meaning the abolition of our independence and union with Great Britain—if such persons have been apprehended.

"I would also like to know if any law has been passed by congress which makes it illegal for an American citizen openly to express his approval of the Nazi cause and his sympathy with the German government. I have openly expressed such ideas, but if a law exists which makes statements of this nature illegal, being a law abiding citizen, and wishing to observe the law of this land in every respect, I shall keep my thoughts to myself. Please inform me when it was passed and what President signed it." R. S. K. J.

PROTEST A PARK ECONOMY.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Those readers who have visited our national parks and who, perhaps, have enjoyed accompanying a naturalist ranger on a trail trip or listening to one of their evening lectures, may be surprised to learn of the proposed plan to abolish this service. The reason given is for purposes of economy, the service now costing $142,000 a year.

While economy is commendable, it is open to question whether this service is not worth a great deal more than that sum—and that it would not be a greater loss to the public to discontinue this service. [More than 5½ million park visitors participated in these park functions last year.]

Those favoring the retention of our national park naturalist rangers should make their views known in Washington by addressing letters to the bureau of the budget.

A TRANSPORTATION HEADACHE.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—I transferred at 7:55 p. m. last night [Nov. 15] at Grand avenue and State street and waited for a westbound car until 8:25 p. m., when car No. 1,593 finally came.

On these cold, windy days I wonder if others enjoy the same transportation headaches—or perhaps there is some attraction at the pier?

It's highly improbable that there was a tieup, as any number of eastbound cars went by while we waited.

JULIA M. GARIBALDI.

THE JUKE BOX AND SLEEP.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—If the lady who is financially interested in the juke boxes and bemoans their silencing would try to sleep above a store with one and hear "Begin the Beguine" every night until 2 a. m. pounding in her ear, she would change her views. I'm sure they are public nuisance No. 1. Yours for a quiet city. D. ELLBEE.

ON THE OPEN ROAD.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Your article on the near north side trailertown's Thanksgiving was enjoyed by all the tenants.

I am married to a man whose business necessitates frequent traveling. So what could be more logical than a rolling home? This way we can have my mother with us all the time—and she loves it! In fact, she is sorry for you poor old-fashioned people who live in houses tied to the ground. She has definitely decided that she never wishes to spend even another night in a stuffy old house!

Our three room, 26 foot trailer offers us every convenience our home did — and you would be amazed at all it contains.

We have found friends in every walk of life and enjoy many happy reunions as our paths cross and recross.

Mr. Stanley is employed as a traveling auditor. I am an educational guidance counselor for the American Schools association, and Mom—well, she is just Mom to everybody—famous for her cookie jar and full sized electric sewing machine, which whirrs briskly along many hours each week. VERA OWENS STANLEY.

ABOUT OPERA IN ENGLISH.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—I notice an interview regarding "Opera in English," the view of John Charles Thomas. I also am heartily in favor of having the operas sung in English. I have been associated with music since my early boyhood, both instrumental and vocal, also as director of choruses, but in spite of my association with this great art I have heard few operas, simply because I am not a linguist and I am not interested in singers who sing in a foreign language that I do not understand.

I believe that with "opera in English" a greater number of people will be interested, and it will have a greater drawing power for the middle class of people who enjoy good music. G. F. R.

DERIVATIVE CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—What is the status of the children of a widow who obtained her final papers in 1920? The children's first names are on same.

1. Are they citizens?
2. Can they get a copy?
3. Where and what is the cost?

H. B.

1. If the children were minors at the time of the mother's naturalization and residing in the United States in pursuance of a legal admission for permanent residence, they became citizens thru such naturalization.
2. If they so desire, they may each apply for a certificate of derivative citizenship, showing that they derived citizenship thru the naturalization of a parent while a minor.
3. The cost of such a certificate is $5.00. Further information in regard thereto may be obtained in room 1105, Postoffice building, Chicago.

JAP PRINCE DIES; LIFE IS STORY OF NATION'S GROWTH

Last of Elder Statesmen; Sat In at Versailles.

Prince Saionji. [A.P. Wirephoto.]

OKITSU, Japan, Nov. 24 (AP).—The last of Japan's Genro, or elder statesman, Prince Kimmochi Saionji, whose 91 years of life spanned the whole period of Japan's emergence from medieval insularity to rank among the great economic and military states of the modern world, died today. He had been ill at his home, a few hours' train journey from Tokio, since Nov. 13.

A child barely beyond the toddling age when American Commodore Perry made his historic visit to Japan in 1853, a young man when feudalism was abolished in Japan, Saionji's career, embracing military and diplomatic service, was inextricably woven into Japanese history.

The Tokio newspaper Asahi said Saionji would be given the posthumous rating of court official, first junior grade, the highest rank ever conferred on any imperial subject.

Saionji was twice premier himself and had advised the emperor in the appointment of at least a score of other premiers from 1916 on, when as a marquis he became a sort of junior member of the Genro in selecting Field Marshal Count Saeki Terauchi for the high post.

Sat in on Peace Treaty.

He headed the Japanese delegation to the Paris conference after the world war and sat with Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, and Orlando when the Versailles treaty was drawn. In 1919 he was invested with the Grand Order of Merit, and in 1920 was made a prince.

In 1924, with the death of Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, he became the only surviving member of the Genro, the unofficial body of statesmen who stood between the cabinet and the crown and whose services were sought in crises because of their distinguished services in the past.

The Japanese constitution provides for no such group as the Genro. It came into existence at the time of the present emperor's grandfather, Mutsuhito, who ruled under the name of Meiji. During his régime all manner of reforms were introduced. Christianity was permitted. The press became a power, steamships were introduced, and the restrictions on Japanese going abroad were lifted.

Studied 11 Years in Paris.

Emperor Meiji assembled a group of leaders around him as advisers—the Genro.

Saionji was born into the noble family of the Tokudaiji in the ancient capital of Kyoto in October, 1849, and became a marquis after his adoption as the heir of the ancient Saionji line of nobles.

After distinguished military service in his teens, he went to Paris in 1869 and studied for 11 years at the University of Paris.

Early in his career he startled the court by appearing in the first suit of foreign clothes worn in the imperial palace.

In 1882 he visited the United States and Europe to study foreign parliamentary systems.

He adhered to tradition in one regard. Men of the Saionji family did not marry because of the legendary jealousy of a phantom serpent woman. The line instead was maintained by adoption. Saionji was 33d in that line. For the 34th he adopted a son of Prince Mori, head of the Chosu clan.

LORD CRAIGAVON, ULSTER'S 'MAN OF GRANITE,' IS DEAD

First Prime Minister; Fought Irish Union.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 24 (AP).—Viscount Craigavon, first prime minister of Northern Ireland [Ulster] and bitter opponent of proposals for union with Ireland, collapsed and died tonight at Glen Craig, his County Down home near here. His death was attributed to heart disease. He was 69 years old.

Viscount Craigavon.

Craigavon had been prime minister of Northern Ireland since the establishment of the Ulster government in 1921, having held office continuously longer than any other European statesman. He attended the last session of the Northern Irish house of commons on Tuesday and was occupied even today with government matters. He had been working at high pressure in recent months.

'Disaster' Seen in Union.

A massive man, 6 feet 2 inches tall, Craigavon was Northern Ireland's "man of granite." In his uncompromising opposition to the Irish union long sought by Ireland, he insisted that union would be a disaster. It would be the equivalent, he contended, to "secession of Ulster from the British empire."

Veteran of many Irish "troubles" which finally brought partition in 1921, Lord Craigavon dealt with Irish Republican extremists with a heavy hand and restored Ulster to a condition of order from the state of near anarchy into which it had been plunged by the Sinn Fein insurrection.

Born James Craig, sixth son of a Craigavon farmer and justice of the peace, at Strandtown, on Jan. 8, 1871, he was created a baronet in 1918 in recognition of his war services and was raised to the peerage in 1927. Taking his title from his old home, he entered the house of lords, being the first empire prime minister to attain that distinction.

Wed in Chapel Royal.

He was educated in Edinburgh and married Cecile Mary Nowell Dering, only child of Sir Daniel Tupper, on March 22, 1905. The bride's father was assistant controler of his majesty's household and, by special permission of the king, the wedding took place in the Chapel Royal, St. James' palace.

Craigavon was a stock broker in Belfast before he turned to politics in 1903.

The widow and twin sons, James and Denis, survive. James will inherit the title.

W-G-N BROADCAST TO HONOR MAINE TOWNSHIP HIGH

Six hundred students from Maine Township High school, near Park Ridge and Des Plaines, will be W-G-N studio guests when their school is saluted on the Citizens of Tomorrow broadcast at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday. The program is the second in the new series of salutes to the youth of America under the sponsorship of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The Maine Township school is the first of Cook county schools to be featured on the program. Other county and parochial schools will be heard subsequently. Supt. T. R. Foulkes of the Maine school will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, who plays the rôle of principal on these broadcasts and is master of ceremonies. The school chorus, directed by Alex M. Harley, will sing three numbers.

Dorothy Gregory, a last year graduate of Maine, plays the part of Jerry, and Eddie Firestone plays that of Jimmie, typical high school students. Others on the show are Charles Victor, announcer, and Harold Turner, W-G-N staff pianist. The school color guard is composed of Roger Lockhart, Scott Haynes, James Shaw, and Norbert Harz. Six Maine cheer leaders will perform on the W-G-N stage: They are Mona Lee Cote, Dick Johnston, Fern and Flora Goeppinger, twins, Elwood Hopf, and Dudley Brown. Mr. Maxwell will conduct the news quiz and announce new additions to the Roll of Honor.

DR. ARTHUR HAAS, NOTED PHYSICIST, STRICKEN IN CITY

Dr. Arthur Haas, 56 years old, professor of physics at the University of Notre Dame, was in County hospital last night receiving treatment for an apparent stroke. Dr. Haas, who came to Chicago to attend the meeting last week of the American Physical society, collapsed Friday in the Asther Health institute, 32 North State street.

Dr. Haas was unable to speak after he was stricken and carried no identifying papers. Police identified him Saturday thru a physics honor society key which he wore on his watch chain. His wife, Beatrice, summoned from South Bend, said her husband suffered high blood pressure and that he had been taking massage treatments as a remedy.

Dr. Haas is widely known as a writer on physics and has taught in England, Austria, and Germany.

Two women employés in the Asther Health institute were held for questioning by Central police. They identified themselves as Mrs. Florence Swanson, 624½ Surf street, and Miss Irene Schwartz, 619 Oakdale avenue.

Ex-Congressman F.H. Funk Dies at Bloomington, Ill.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 24. (AP).—Frank H. Funk, 71, former congressman, died tonight of heart disease. Funk, a Yale graduate, represented the 17th district in congress from 1921 to 1927. He was a state senator from 1909 to 1913 and served on the public utilities commission from 1914 to 1921. He was a delegate to the Republican National convention in 1920. He operated a 2,200 acre farm.

Touring Chicago Orchestra Wins Praise of C. N. Fay, Early Sponsor

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 24 [Special].—That truth can sometimes shame fiction was demonstrated again today when a combination of circumstances which a novelist might regard as too improbable for his use helped to make the Chicago Symphony orchestra's Boston concert the undoubted climax of its golden jubilee tour.

For Charles Norman Fay, the man who brought Theodore Thomas to Chicago in 1891 to establish the Chicago orchestra, and who now, at 92, lives quietly in Boston's neighbor city, Cambridge, was present in Symphony hall this afternoon for the concert. He was enabled to listen to the work of his own brain child—now called the Chicago Symphony orchestra and now conducted by Frederick Stock—and to decide for himself what it had amounted to in its half-century of life.

His comment should fall more sweetly on the ears of the orchestra and its now [as since 1905] conductor than all the songs of praise which two generations of critics have sung.

"It's simply tops," was the way he summed it up.

The presence of Mr. Fay was not the only thing which made this concert the climax of the tour. In invading the home city of the celebrated Boston Symphony orchestra Dr. Stock and his men were compelled to face an audience which regards itself, with some reason, as the most critical and discerning on this continent if not in the world, therefore the thunderous applause which the concert evoked was more heartening even than the plaudits of the other cities on the itinerary.

The first [after the initial welcome] came at the conclusion of Weber's "Euryanthe" overture, which was played today with the orchestra's usual brilliance and spirit and with an even rounder and richer tone quality.

The second followed the Brahms third symphony and was doubtless intended as a tribute to the flow and inevitability and to the imaginative detail of the performance. Certainly the orchestra sang with a splendid fluency and warmth and with a remarkable richness of inflection.

After the intermission came a first Boston performance of the new John Alden Carpenter symphony, written for and dedicated to Dr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The ovation at its conclusion was directed at the composer, who was brought to the stage to receive the plaudits of the audience.

The fourth and last of the ovations came at the end of the concert, when listeners who had evidently been very favorably impressed by the Wagner group—"Voices of the Forest" from "Siegfried" and "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" from "Twilight of the Gods"—remained in their places to summon the conductor back to the stage. This series of demonstrations drew astonished comments from persons who know the traditional reserve of Boston audiences.

Symphony hall was virtually full. The concert was a British war relief benefit. After the concert there was a tea [and tea in Boston means tea and not something else] given in Symphony hall in Dr. Stock's honor by Dr. and Mrs. Serge Koussevitzky of the Boston Symphony orchestra.

The place buzzed with flattering comments. Later this evening the orchestra entrained for Chicago, there to resume its orchestral duties. This eastern tour, undertaken in celebration of the orchestra's 50th season, has turned out a major triumph.

State Street Store Staffs Give $114,988 to Community Fund

Executives and employés of the larger State street department stores have contributed $114,988 to the 1940 Community Fund campaign, Merle J. Trees, chairman of the drive for $3,604,000, announced yesterday.

This total is on the basis of incomplete returns, he said. It includes the following contributions: The Boston Store [incomplete], $2,165; Carson Pirie Scott & Co., $10,218; The Fair [incomplete], $7,000; Marshall Field & Co., $17,650; Goldblatt Bros., Inc., $13,065; Mandel Brothers, $14,644; Maurice L. Rothschild & Co. [incomplete], $4,758; Sears, Roebuck & Co., $10,180; Charles A. Stevens & Co., $2,000; Wieboldt's Department Stores, Inc., $6,566; Wieboldt Foundation, $17,000; F. W. Woolworth company, $6,030; S. S. Kresge company, $3,871.

A subscription from executives and employés of The Hub, Henry C. Lytton & Sons, has not been announced. The Sears, Roebuck contribution is separate from a large subscription from employés of its mail order houses.

Sunday Shows Come Back to Broadway; Called a Success

New York, Nov. 24 [Special.]—Broadway's first Sunday shows in many a long day gave every indication tonight of a successful experiment. Thirteen theaters opened their doors to test the reactions of Sunday strollers and all of them found the response encouraging. Altho none of the managers would talk officially tonight, old-timers in the show business believed that Sunday shows would be a regular item on Manhattan's theater menu. Only one show, "Hellzapoppin" at the Winter Garden, was sold out. The others, however, packed in plenty of customers.

Great Basses for Same Opera

Two of the greatest basses now to be heard in Italian opera will sing together on the stage of the Civic Opera house in tomorrow night's Chicago Opera company performance of Mozart's "Don Giovanni." Ezio Pinza, whose characterizations of Mephistopheles in "Faust" and of the mad czar in "Boris Godunoff" have won him renown in other seasons, this year undertakes the part of Don Juan, who pursues the vision of his ideal woman, and who in the course of his pursuit conquers the affections of no fewer than 1,003 women in Spain alone.

Thruout the Don's amorous career his faithful servant and companion is Leporello, whose voluble, superstitious, naïve nature is comically portrayed by Virgilio Lazzari, the great singing actor who achieved a triumph last Saturday night with Grace Moore in "The Love of Three Kings."

The cast of tomorrow night's "Don Giovanni" lists a galaxy of fine singers. In addition to Mr. Pinza and Mr. Lazzari, the principal artists will by Rose Bampton, Kathryn Witwer, Margit Bokor, Tito Schipa, Max Alvary, and Fred Destal. Paul Breisach will conduct the performance.

Baggiore Makes Chicago Opera Debut Friday

Attilio Baggiore, whose tenor voice thunders from the depths of a 49 inch chest, will make his debut with the Chicago Opera company Friday in Verdi's "La Traviata."

His voice is by no means unknown here. It is probably one of the best known tenor voices in America. Since 1931, when he returned to America after operatic triumphs in Europe, he has appeared in 235 concerts thruout the country. In addition, he has been heard weekly for the last six years on W-G-N, with which radio station he has just signed a new three year contract.

Nor will Friday's performance be his first in the Chicago Opera house. He sang there, to tumultuous acclaim, in 1931 in the still halcyon days of the elder Samuel Insull. As for the rôle of Alfredo in "La Traviata," it is one of Baggiore's favorites; he has reeled it off some 75 or 80 times.

This time he will sing it with Helen Jepson in the rôle of Violetta, and Baggiore, who hears few things without a fine Latin excitement, is elated. "She's going to get a loving that night, no fooling," he says merrily.

"'Traviata' is the opera I love the most," he adds with a thrust of that chest. "Then 'Lucia,' 'Tosca,' and the tenor rôle in 'Boris Godunoff.' They are real food for my voice. I love that Alfredo part in 'Traviata.' I really feel it. There are some things you have to do. There are some you love to do. This is one."

Baggiore's loves are many. Cooking is one. Ask him about spaghetti, and before you can bat an eye he is telling of the afternoon in Dallas he made a sauce for 35 guests, cooked 65 meatballs, and served it all "in my dress suit" after his concert. That, of course, was mere child's play, as is his pastime of taking his car apart so he can put it together again. "I love," he says, relishing the word, "to come up all splattered in grease."

Baggiore was born in Calumet, Mich., of Italian parentage, and came to Chicago to study when he was 16, juggling his way thru music school by lifting 1,000 pound cases in a receiving room. ["That accounts for my 49 inch chest," he says. "That's where I really developed."]

Three years later he went to Naples to study, became a protégé of Caruso and Tetrazzini, touring the British Isles with the latter, and in 1924 made his operatic debut with the Royal Opera of Rome, prelude to a long succession of European triumphs.

Ballet Theatre Revives Number a Century Old

"Giselle," a ballet which will be 100 years old next June, was revived by the Ballet Theatre in the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon. Anton Dolin was responsible for the staging, which is believed to resemble the original more closely than any other current version.

Certainly yesterday's performance had the special flavor of a genuine antique. The conventional handling of the corps de ballet and the limitations in the use of certain steps seemed unencrusted by modern embellishments, and the resultant purity of style was something to enjoy and treasure. Lucinda Ballard's delicately colored costumes, projecting so well against her black and white settings, marked the only idiomatic deviation—unobtrusively; and they had a pictorial value all their own.

Nana Gollner danced the difficult title rôle, as exhausting emotionally as physically, with great technical skill, a fine sense of line and continuity, and a dramatic flair for the first act with its gayety and subsequent madness. These qualities, given the added blessing of Miss Gollner's personal beauty, made her characterization quite affecting.

As her unfortunate lover Mr. Dolin was superb, combining in his performance the boldness, ease and accuracy which make his dancing so satisfactory. His turns and leaps in the second act were breath-taking.

Nina Stroganova's sadly regal Queen of the Wilis furnished some of the best work she has done here this season. For its superior dancing in the second act the corps de ballet must be acknowledged the finest in the country.

A repetition of Antony Tudor's "Goyescas" completed the afternoon's program. Danced with more precision and having its points more sharply made, it seemed a better work on second sight. Hugh Laing, Lucia Chase, and Katharine Sergava again had the leading rôles, investing them with good humor.

In the evening Alexander Sved, the new Hungarian baritone of the Chicago Opera company, and Jean Tennyson, soprano, gave a joint recital in the Civic theater.

Mr. Sved possesses undoubtedly one of the finest baritone voices to be heard—full bodied, rich, and sonorous. He was in good form last night and there was no spreading in the lower register as was evident in his operatic performances. In a group of German lieder and in duets from "Don Giovanni" and "Simon Boccanegra" with Miss Tennyson he often sang with genuine musical feeling and a discriminating variety of tone. As at the opera house he indulged in occasional exaggerations, which he should know detract rather than add to the effectiveness of his singing.

The Stage

George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," with Ruth Chatterton, Barry Thomson, and Dennis Hoey, opens a fortnight's engagement at the Selwyn theater tonight. On Monday, Dec. 9, the same theater will be taken over by Ruth Gordon in "Here Today," the third play of the Theater Guild and American Theater society series.

Robeson Gives His Concert to Popular Songs

BY CECIL SMITH.

Paul Robeson, the celebrated Negro baritone, attracted a capacity audience to the Auditorium theater yesterday afternoon, for the third concert in the History and Enjoyment of Music series. As assisting artist, Clara Rockmore, played the electrical instrument known as the theremin. Lawrence Brown accompanied Mr. Robeson, and Eugene Helmer was Miss Rockmore's pianist.

Mr. Robeson's tone retains all its smooth, velvety quality. While he classifies himself as a baritone, the comfortable range of his voice is more that of a bass-baritone. The low and middle portions of his voice are remarkably rich and vital. The upper register he seemed not to use at all, even tho he must have realized that his program would suffer from the lack of songs with climactic high notes.

Evidently Mr. Robeson wanted to make sure of reaching his audience completely and instantly, for his program remained on a level so popular as to be disappointing to some subscribers who expect the History and Enjoyment of Music series to present music of some weight. The afternoon began and ended with extremely familiar Negro spirituals, beautiful, of course, but hackneyed from overuse. In between he sang folk songs of other nationalities, two Mussorgsky songs, and the Latouche-Robinson "Ballad for Americans." This latter work, better as a theater piece than as music, lost color and force thru the absence of both chorus and orchestra, and does not seem well suited to solo recital purposes.

Altho Mr. Robeson sang intelligently and sometimes movingly, it was hard to become convinced that a program of such featherweight musical interest was altogether worth a trip downtown. In this judgment I know that some, at least, of the audience concurred, from intermission comments I heard.

The theremin, an odd apparatus with a console and loud speaker from which two hands moving in midair are able to elicit sounds, has a tone quality all its own. Its timbre, which is subject to no variety whatever, resembles a composite of a saxophone, a cello, and a human voice humming thru a comb. Miss Rockmore is a tasteful musician and a clever performer on her chosen instrument. Fragments of the Nardini E minor violin concerto transposed an octave lower and wailed by the theremin provided an experience which had the merit of being novel.

Marie Blanche M'Cormick Weds William Fergus

Marie Blanche de Brotonne McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Leander J. McCormick, was married to William D. Fergus in Dayton, O., Saturday night, it was learned yesterday. Mrs. McCormick, formerly the Countess de Fleurieu, who had been told of the young couple's plans, was notified of the marriage by telegram yesterday morning.

Marie Blanche, who is 19, is Mrs. McCormick's daughter by her marriage to Guy de Brotonne. She was adopted formally by Mr. McCormick in 1938.

Mr. Fergus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Carleton Fergus of Troy, O., whom the young couple had been visiting for Thanksgiving, is in the insurance business here. He is a lieutenant in the Illinois National Guard and a star of the 124th Field artillery's polo team. He has been ordered to report to Camp Peay, Tenn., on Jan. 3 for a year's military duty. Until then he and his bride will live at 2136 Lincoln Park West. They now are honeymooning in the east.

"We're delighted with the marriage," Mrs. McCormick said. "He's a nice boy."

Twelfth Night Ball, Fabulous Event, Revived

CHICAGOANS who remember the fabulous Twelfth Night balls which for two decades provided the social diamond on the post-Christmas calendar will be delighted to know that 1941 will bring another one.

The mysterious Twelve Knights who gave the delirious, fantastic balls of the past have nothing to do with this one, however, altho some of them, whose identity then was shrouded in secrecy, may be members of the Racquet club, which will revive the ball on the night of Friday, Jan. 10.

The date, Jan. 10, is historically inaccurate, of course. Twelfth Night, merriest of all Elizabethan fêtes, was celebrated on the eve of the Feast of Epiphany, which falls always on Jan. 6, 12 days after Christmas. So did Chicago's masked Twelve Knights, but Jan. 10 was a socially unencumbered night. Therefore. . . .

Event to Be Much in Old Tradition.

The Racquet club's Twelfth Night ball, as tentatively planned at a meeting of the board of governors Friday, will be greatly in the old tradition. That is, it will be a masked, costume ball, wholly carnival in spirit, with the decors shrouded in secrecy until the masked revelers prance in.

The Twelfth Night ball of Chicago's past glory, a glittering affair with bizarre, exotic decorations, and lavish costumes, was obliterated in the depression. The last attempt to hoid one was in 1932, when it was given on a muted scale with guests invited to wear "just any costume," but its origin here was prior to 1910, when it was started by the late William Gamble. Many an elderly Chicagoan once was a young knight, and few who went in merry disguise to those of the past will not anticipate eagerly its revival, even on a small scale.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Louise McKisson to Haines Rennyson Merritt Jr. of East Aurora, N. Y., is made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. McKisson of Winnetka. No date for the wedding is set. Mr. Merritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Sr. of East Aurora, left yesterday after spending Thanksgiving with his fiancée and her parents.

Miss McKisson attended Connecticut college and the University of Michigan. Her fiancé is a graduate of the Phillips Exeter academy at

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Norma Tredwell, happily married to Thaddeus Tredwell, the producer, discovers that her stepdaughter, Barbara, is seeing Norma's philandering ex-husband, Paul Gerente, the actor. Leaving their house guest, Chell Scott, Norma goes to town to break up the romance. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment and discovers Paul Gerente murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor, who claims to be Paul Gerente, with orders in code from the naval intelligence. They are instructions in case New York might be plunged into darkness by war, but Maclain refuses to tell his visitor the five vital points in the city where sabotage might occur. Worried for fear Barbara may be implicated in the murder, Norma, without giving her name, telephones A. Cameron, the man in the apartment below Paul's, to find out whether he or some one in Paul's apartment let her in. Immediately Cameron dismisses Hilda, a girl visitor, and goes to Gerente's place to investigate.

INSTALMENT VII.

STRANGE VOICE.

For the space of two cigarets Cameron sat in a chair sipping his drink and staring at the poker reflectively. When his highball was finished he picked up the poker again and took it back upstairs.

The fire was almost out.

Cameron replaced the weapon on the floor beside the dead man and began to search the room. He went over it skillfully and swiftly, making sure that he left no signs of disorder. Fifteen minutes satisfied him, and he transferred his search to the adjoining room.

A table lamp glowed softly as he pushed the switch. It disclosed a bedroom furnished in simple masculine fashion with a double bed, a combination bookcase and desk, and two comfortable chairs.

Without hesitation Cameron opened the desk. The front swung down to make a writing table. He reached inside and opened the right hand drawer, pulling it out entirely. Groping inside the cavity he located a niche large enough to receive the end of his finger. A slight tug swung out the center of the desk disclosing a hidden drawer.

The shallow compartment was empty. He closed it slowly, tried it once again to make sure it was fastened, and replaced the desk drawer. Answering promptly, as tho shutting the desk had released some controlling spring, the cuckoo clock struck 11:30.

Cameron's gray eyes turned toward the curtains separating the two rooms. He sucked in his lower lip and bit it lightly, then slid his right hand into his coat pocket and closed it about the butt of the Luger 7.65. Following close on the noisy strike of the cuckoo clock some one had knocked demandingly on the apartment door.

He stood motionless, breathing easily, his thumb pressed against the safety catch of the gun. The knock sounded again, more insistent. Cameron's eyes widened and his serious face was lightened by a perversely mischievous smile.

Moving effortlessly, and with the quiet ease of muscles kept in perfect trim, he brushed the curtains aside, stepped into the living room and bent over the still form on the floor. Quickly, he seized the poker, and with a rolling motion pressed the shiny brass handle against the fingers of the body's stiffening right hand. When that was done, he grasped the brass handle with his own right hand and for a split second brandished the weapon threateningly in the air.

From the hall, a voice called "Mr. Gerente!" The summons was followed by another knock. Cameron replaced the poker beside the body, strode across the room and opened the door.

A dark, strikingly handsome man in a sleet spattered tan mackintosh stood across the threshold. He gave a friendly grin which brought the whole of his rugged face to life, except his eyes. They gave Cameron an uneasy illusion that the newcomer was looking thru him, concentrating on some indefinite spot on the opposite wall.

"It's beastly of me to disturb you again tonight." The man stepped inside. "I'm overcautious, I guess——" He stopped just inside the door.

"Come in, Capt. Maclain." Cameron fell back precipitately. Two German shepherd dogs had preceded Maclain from the hall. The one on the captain's left stared about the room with kindly inquisitiveness. Maclain's left hand rested lightly upon a U-shaped brace attached to her harness. It was the dog to the captain's right which kept Cameron's feet leadenly still.

There was danger in the set of the white teeth, strength in the broad jaws and forechest, and unflinching courage in the stance of the full erect tail. Menacing almond eyes turned their unwavering gaze from Cameron to the corpse on the hearth. The heavy leather leash tightened around the captain's hand as the dog stepped forward with a threatening growl.

"Stand, Dreist!" Maclain snapped out. The affability of his voice was gone. "This dog is extremely dangerous," he continued in a flat warning tone. "I won't be able to control him and he'll tear you to pieces if you try to pull a gun. Move very cautiously, please, and seat yourself in a chair."

Cameron obeyed without answering. His forehead was damp and a muscle showed tight along the length of his jaw. When he was seated, he said. "Perhaps you don't mind explaining your reasons for coming here, Captain Maclain."

"Not at all. Lie down, Schnucke!" The dog in the seeing eye harness obeyed. The captain tightened his hold on Dreist's leash and walked toward the sound of Cameron's voice. "Sit quietly, please, and keep your arms out from your sides." An instant later he produced Cameron's gun, and quickly stowed it away in his mackintosh.

"You're very efficient," Cameron remarked sarcastically.

"I've been told so," said Maclain. "My chauffeur, Cappo, is waiting for me downstairs in my car. Either you're not Paul Gerente or your voice has changed since you were in my office an hour ago."

"How did you get in here without ringing?" Cameron carefully changed his position in the chair.

"My chauffeur found the superintendent. If you're not Paul Gerente, I think you'd better tell me who you are."

"I'll tell you even more," said Cameron. "Arnold Cameron's my name. I was a good friend of Gerente's. I live in the back apartment on the second floor."

"'Was' a good friend?" repeated Maclain.

"That's right," said Cameron levelly. "He wasn't in your office an hour ago, either. He's very much dead behind you on the floor. Your dog was growling at his body when you came in the door."

"Schnuckle!" Maclain called.

The seeing eye dog came up and placed herself at the captain's side. "Guard, Dreist!" he ordered the other dog, and dropped the leash from his hand. "If you don't move," he said coldly to Cameron. "Dreist won't molest you."

"Then he won't molest me," said Cameron. "That's okay by me."

Under Schnucke's guidance the captain stopped close by the body. Down on one knee, he ran his agile fingers over the features and lightly touched the clotted blood in the hair.

"He's been dead for some time," he announced thoughtfully, rising from the floor.

"Since 7:45," said Cameron.

"You place it with great exactness." Maclain stood holding his chin between thumb and finger. "How do you know?"

"I looked at the clock right after I hit him with the poker," Cameron declared with a nervous laugh. "He came at me with it and I wrested it away. It was self defense."

"I'll have to telephone the police."

"Go ahead," said Cameron. "I can't stop you with this dog slavering over me. I have a witness who can clear me."

"That's probably lucky for you. Who is it?"

"The girl we were quarreling over," said Cameron. "Hilda Lestrade's her name. She's a good looking baby, too!"

Somewhere along the coast of California 12 great bombing planes sat white and impressive, lined up in a geometrical row. Far down the flat cleared surface of the landing field a group of men in khaki stood watching. One of the men placed a pair of binoculars to his eyes, adjusted the focus, then stepped from the group and signaled. A flight commander leaned from one of the flying fortresses and waved his hand.

The dozen giant planes came to life with a roar. Moving with the slow stateliness of imaginative birds from the Arabian Nights, they wheeled across the field, seemed to pause even as they gathered speed, and suddenly left the ground for the air.

There, they were more at home. Traveling with the dizzy speed of a hurricane they fell into the arrow formation of herons in flight. Looking down, the flight commander saw ten acres of parked automobiles blur white with upturned faces watching the bombers grow small against the sky.

On the edge of the parked cars bordering the landing field a man and a girl sat in a 16 cylinder convertible coupe. The top was down, altho the afternoon was unseasonably cool. Perched on the back of the seat, the girl watched the vanishing planes thru a pair of dark sun glasses.

A Japanese persimmon, like an avocado, should be somewhat soft to be good. The firm persimmon is underripe and astringent. It leaves a coating on the teeth. But a ripe persimmon has a delicate, pleasant flavor, and is a pretty ingredient for salads.

PERSIMMON SALAD.

Chill a ripe persimmon for each salad. Remove skin by cutting gashes and pulling it off with the back of a knife. Do not remove blossom end. Serve each persimmon on watercress with French dressing, to which chopped green pepper has been added.

PERSIMMON-AVOCADO SALAD.

Arrange slices of chilled persimmon and avocado on lettuce, chicory, or other greens, and add a sharp French dressing, made with lemon.

PERSIMMON FRUIT SALAD.

Combine sliced pears, banana, sliced persimmon, and pineapple pieces with a few marshmallows and nuts, and add fruit salad dressing or whipped cream mayonnaise.

There are many versions of the steamed persimmon pudding. Early this year we printed a recipe for a persimmon pudding with raisins and nuts in it. This one contains dates and nuts, but is quite similar otherwise.

Persimmon Pudding.
[Serves Six.]

1 cup persimmon pulp
½ cup chopped dates
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mash persimmons thru a sieve and measure a cup of pulp. Add dates and nuts. Sift flour before measuring, combine with other ingredients, and resift. Add milk to persimmon mixture. Combine the two mixtures, stirring until just blended. Add vanilla and turn into a greased mold, filling it not more than two-thirds full. Cover closely and steam for an hour, or turn into a greased loaf pan and bake at 325 degrees for about 50 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

A lipstick with a protective ingredient that helps save the lip skin from the ravages of cold winds is always worth looking up. There are three new ones that are excellent—and they're quite inexpensive.

These sticks are made up in a new formula, compounded with a special eye to the climatic conditions that affect the skin of the lips. Nearly all women have the problem of chapped lips in winter; for them these sticks are a find.

Ordinarily the lipstick recommended to help prevent chapping is creamy; most of the time it is too creamy, slipping and sliding all over the face, and not staying on long enough. In these new sticks the soothing, protective ingredient somehow has been incorporated in a way that doesn't make the texture too greasy. It holds together well and clings for hours.

The colors of these three new sticks are all warm and dramatic, right in line with the fashion. One, the color of Indian paint brush, is perfect for blondes, but not necessarily limited to them; it's an elegant makeup accent with tawny furs and coppery fabric shades.

A second shade was created originally for medium brunets, or brownets. It's a lively, rich red—good with black, gray, navy, or any solid dark tones that need a dramatic makeup.

The third is a deep red, best for the definite brunet or the sun tanned. It's one of those South American shades that are tops this year. There's no denying that lipstick shade preferences have made a decided swing from the bright, brilliant, colors to right, darker ones. More oomph, the girls say, and softer.

Good Morning!

No two ways about it—"Angels Over Broadway" is just plain QUEER!

It has a THOUGHT—that I grant—but one not so clearly presented, while the picture as a whole is too unevenly and slowly paced for popularity.

WE ARE ALL BETTER THAN WE KNOW—that's the thought. And some Broadway flotsam and jetsam prove this [?] to you—their inspiration being, severally and collectively, a meek little thief who, given till the morn to make good his theft, plans suicide. . . . En route to the great beyond he drops into a night club and in peculiar fashion the "Angels Over Broadway" come to his rescue.

The film is excellently acted. Thomas Mitchell, now—he CAN do no histrionic wrong, I so often think! But the piece just didn't make a lot of sense to me.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 24.—Sunday: Some writing and finishing Frank Case's delightful "Do Not Disturb?" which has a very fine tale of the time the late Douglas Fairbanks accidentally shot a Fifth avenue furrier with a longbow and arrow, and Tom Geraghty remarking, "They ought to make these furriers wear red coats." Then to Gregory La Cava's to help him close his Malibu Beach house, which is being turned over to the architects for remodeling. It is a good house closing, with everybody making much of some domestic pink champagne, and Carmen Morales getting much teasing about her lucky break in "The Long Voyage Home." She appears only momentarily as a thin native girl, but "Long Voyage" is a picture about men and she's the only ess ee ex in it, so all the advertising pictures feature her.

Monday: To Metro for a chat with Al Block, the studio censor whose duty it is to say "Ah, ah, burny, burny," when somebody wants to film a debatable scene. I'd guess that nine-tenths of movie censorship has nothing to do with morals or indecency, but is aimed at avoiding squawks. The Chinese, for instance, formally object to members of their race almost always being classed as servants. Japanese, on the other hand, rarely squawk. A laugh: Germany officially objected to "Thunder Afloat," a film of first world war sub chasers, on the ground that it intimated that Germany had indulged in unrestricted submarine warfare.

Tuesday: Speaking of squawks, a letter is being sent to newsmen and studio executives complaining about the quantity of Scotch and soda drunk in pictures. It's from a distiller and it argues that American rye and bourbon should get a chance. . . . On the "Ziegfeld Girl" set Jackie Cooper plays the piano in his home [it's a cop's home and E. McNamara is the cop, of course] and Kid Sister Lana Turner walks down the stairs in her nightie or something, pretending she's a show girl. The sound track for the piano has already been made and as Jackie strikes the keys it is played over a loudspeaker for his guidance. It requires split-second timing between Cooper and the sound engineers. They try it over and over, and Pop Leonard growls to Jackie not to take the time to pull up his trouser legs when he sits down. "But I gotta," wails Cooper—and come to think of it, it is an absolutely automatic gesture with men. Women do their pulling when they stand up.

Wednesday: Lunch with Jimmy Stewart and he talks of his big radio and his airplane, and how he's worried about where to keep the ship. Aircraft factories are expanding at such a rate that they are taking over almost all available landing fields. . . . I hear that Howard Hughes finally has picked his two new faces for the leads in "The Outlaw." Jack Beutel, 21, a little theater actor from Dallas, Tex., will be Billy the Kid, and Jane Russell, 19, from Van Nuys, high over in the valley, will play an oomphy halfbreed. Shooting starts next week in a Hopi Indian village in Arizona.

Thursday: It's Thanksgiving day and the studios have closed down, but there's no place for the actors to go—not one college football game.

Friday: To R. K. O., where Frank Veloz is coaching a group of dancers in the intricacies of a new number, the Chaco, in preparation for shooting Monday on "They Met in Argentina." Frank has had trouble getting satisfactorily paired dancers. "They've got to be interested in each other if they're going to dance well," he says.

Saturday: To Fox and Paramount for a look-see, and dog shopping for our daughter's birthday, and a small amount of writing.

Flattering Princess Lines

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Princess lines are perennially flattering. Each year sees them with new glamor and distinctive styling. The pattern today is an illustration of this fashion. It may be used for a daytime frock, as illustrated at the right, or as a home frock, left.

Style No. 2690 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch fabric with ¼ yard of contrasting for house frock; 4½ yards with ¼ yard of contrasting for street version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

It looks, reflects Louis Goldin, as if the Greeks have something more than a word for it.

Lady at Luncheon.

Upon a plate, a chop, a lettuce leaf,
For shopping waits and time is all too brief;
Slim, graceful fingers, long and tipped with red,
—Claire Goodell.

Dialog.

The appearance of Henry Jackson, Princeton, Ill., born pianist, at Kimball hall tomorrow evening in a benefit to raise funds for the annual scholarship contest of the Chicago Woman's Musical club brings to mind a little interchange in New York between Mr. Jackson and Gene Tunney. Shortly after one of his New York concerts Jackson met Tunney at a party.

"One of my critics thinks we have something in common," said Jackson. "After my concert in Town Hall, where the program proved to be a little bombastic, he said that evidently I considered playing the piano a strong man undertaking."

"Well," countered Tunney, "a sport writer once wrote of me that as a boxer I'd make a fine piano player."

Beauty of Real Gems Rivaled in Costume Pieces

BY REA SEEGER.

Dazzling displays of costume jewelry, pieces that easily rival the beauty of precious gems set in similar designs, have arrived for the Christmas shoppers. Costume jewelry pieces these days are extraordinary. They are not the cluttery, jangling masses of the first tryouts of seasons ago, but beautifully designed and executed pieces sufficiently dress parade to wear with most formal costumes.

Earrings are particularly effective. Larger than ever before, they have a way of finishing a costume that no other jeweled pieces can achieve. Huge gold metal earrings are stunning duets, whether they are simple or ornate.

Filigree balls, clever twists, and bowknots, copies of Javanese baubles, long, dangling affairs, and the more modernistic beauties are but a few of the selections now ready. Matching bracelets combine with these earrings to make brilliant ensembles for accenting any dress suit or gown.

Many of the more beautiful pieces have been designed and made by the same artists that work with real gems, hence the finished beauty of each and every piece. Evening costume jewelry flashes with the same exquisite beauty as the genuine jewels. Rhinestones and brilliants are worked with the same expert discrimination as diamonds.

You'll find this brilliant execution especially effective in the sprays, chest pins, bracelets, and matching earring sets. One breath-takingly beautiful pair of large earrings is made in the shape of roses, with a center of blood red star ruby in each. The petals are of small twinkling rhinestones. A beautifully designed bracelet of the same rose pattern matches the earrings.

Moonstones of a celestial blue shade make lovely pieces in sprays, large pins, bracelets, and earrings. All these simulated or semiprecious stones are exceptional finds this season, beautiful pieces that make the most glamorous gifts for exceedingly modest prices.

Pot Holders in Crochet

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Two new and unusual crocheted pot holders are those illustrated today. If red and white is your favorite color scheme, you may make these two-tone holders, the backs of which are crocheted in a single color. The spiral holder is a quick and easy job, while the quilt block design requires a little more time. Both of them will take prizes as unusual and practical kitchen items of beauty.

For instructions in crocheting the spiral and quilt block pot holders, No. X-407, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th Avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Continuing our reanalysis of controversial questions in the recent self-rating examination we come to question 13:

Only East-West vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	Double	2 hearts

You are South and hold:

♠ A Q 7 5 3 2 ♥ Q 8 4 ♦ K ♣ K 4 3

What call do you make?

The official answer was "pass," my main reason for this being that South was not strong enough to double two hearts for penalties, but that he should not rob North of that opportunity. Most examinees did not agree with me. About 75 per cent chose to rebid the spade suit and about 12 per cent felt that a double of two hearts was justified on the South hand itself, in connection with the previous bidding. I emphatically disagree with this latter view. South cannot possibly be sure of defeating two hearts, even if North shows up with a couple of tricks outside of the club suit. For one thing, South must discount entirely the value of his club king at a heart contract, because the bidding has marked East with a maximum of one club.

My disapproval of the double by South, however, does not alter the fact that North might be able to double with a great deal more assurance. The previous club double suggested that North was very short of spades. If this is really the case and he has tricks distributed among the other three suits, he will not hesitate to double the two heart bid. Thus a spade rebid by South directly over two hearts is likely to prove a waste of breath, in that North will have no interest in a spade contract. Worse than that, it may prove to be a rescue of East's heart bid, which in itself might have been a desperate rescue attempt. This is one of those many cases in which silence [on South's part] is likely to be golden.

Today's Hand

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A K 6 5 2
♥ A K 10 7
♦ K 6
♣ Q J

WEST
♠ 9 8 7
♥ J 6 4
♦ 7 5 4 2

♠ Q J 3

♦ A Q
♣ A 7 6 2

SOUTH
♠ 10 4
♥ 9 3
♦ J 10 9 8 3
♣ K 10 5 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Double [1]
Pass	Pass	Pass

[1] East realizes that South's bid must have been supershaded and, with so many high cards back of the strong hand, doubles for penalties.

West opened the nine of spades, dummy winning with the king. Declarer saw that his best chance of making the contract consisted in establishing the diamonds while he still had a club entry to his hand. He therefore led the king of diamonds at trick two.

East won with the ace of diamonds and, sensing the danger of allowing South to retain a club entry, returned a low club. Dummy won with the jack and led a low diamond, East winning with the queen. East cashed the ace of clubs and led the queen of spades. Dummy won with the ace and put East in once more with the jack of spades, but a heart lead effectively spiked declarer's guns by putting him in dummy once more. He cashed the two low spades, but then had to lead a low heart from dummy to avoid a two trick set.

Last night at a buffet supper at their home in Evanston Mr. and Mrs. William E. Guylee announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Donald E. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald Thompson of Chicago. Miss Guylee and Mr. Thompson plan to be married in the early spring. She attended Monticello seminary and the University of Colorado and was graduated from Northwestern university. Mr. Thompson is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Margaret Gethro Betrothed to L. P. Shollenberger.

Romance made news in the Frederic William Gethro home yesterday for the second time this year. At a small tea at their home in Kimbark avenue, the Gethros announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Lynford Powers Shollenberger. Margaret's sister, Frances, became the bride of Norman Eaton last June.

Miss Gethro attended Rollins college and received her degree from the University of Chicago. She is a member of the Service club and is active in the Gray Lady service of the Red Cross.

Mr. Shollenberger attended Dartmouth college and received his degree at Lake Forest college. No date has been set for the wedding.

Sue Spinney's Engagement to Harry S. Raymond Told.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Spinney of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, Sue, to Harry Sherwood Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Raymond of Evanston. Miss Spinney attended Connecticut college for two years and last June was graduated from Northwestern university. Mr. Raymond was graduated last June from Dartmouth college. Announcement of the engagement was made at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Spinney for their daughter's friends on Saturday at the North Shore Golf club. No date for the wedding is set.

Robert O. Lehmann Jr. Wins Congratulations for Parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen Lehmann are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Robert Owen Jr., at the Presbyterian hospital last Tuesday morning. Robert Jr. is the Lehmanns' first child and the first grandchild of his maternal grandmother, Mrs. John C. Redmond. He is the Edward J. Lehmanns' third grandchild. Young Mrs. Lehmann is the former Barbara Ann Kinney.

Kathrine Munroe Bouscaren is the name of the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Henri V. Bouscaren, born last Wednesday at the Passavant hospital. The baby is named for her mother, the former Kathrine McNulty.

Jeffrey Robson Short III. was born on Thursday at the Passavant. He is the first child of the former Barbara Allen of Brookline, Mass., and Jeffrey R. Short of Chicago, formerly of Winnetka.

Society for Shut-Ins Gives Fashion Tea Today.

Today's is the last fashion show tea to be given by the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins until Dec. 9. The group has decided to skip the tea on Dec. 2 in order to allow more time for Christmas shopping. The teas are held in the Camellia house of the Drake hotel from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Laird Bell and Mrs. Dexter Fairbank will be today's hostesses. Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger is assisting them. The models include Miss Joan Littlefield, Miss Evelyn Lawrence, Miss Peggy Ware, Miss Martha Stevens, Miss Jeanne Stenson, Miss Jane Beckwith, Miss Nadine Kinney, and Miss Beverly Roach.

A gown will be completely fashioned on a model, using only fabric and pins, on the stage of the Esquire theater tomorrow morning as part of the Chicago Smith club's scholarship benefit. The film, "Bachelor Mother," will be shown and a style show will be given. The benefit starts at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. James M. McConnell is chairman of the arrangements, and Mrs. Otto G. Schmidt, Mrs. George E. Blossom Jr., Mrs. Hugh W. McCulloch, Mrs. H. W. Sanborn, Mrs. George W. Bobinsky, Mrs. Ward C. Castle, Mrs. E. E. Howie, and Miss Charlotte Righelmer are working with her.

Ruth Quigley Moffett Bride of New Yorker

West Palm Beach, Fla., Nov. 24 [Special].—Mrs. Ruth Marian Quigley Moffett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas Quigley of Washington and Palm Beach, and Paul Lacoste Maddock of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Palm Beach were married here last night.

The ceremony, the first wedding of the Palm Beach social season, took place at El Sueno, the Quigley villa on Miraflores drive, with the Rev. H. Irving Louttit, pastor of Holy Trinity Episcopal church, officiating. It was followed by a small wedding supper.

The bride is the former wife of Robert Arkel Moffett of Chicago, son of the former federal housing administrator, James A. Moffett. She made her debut in 1934 and is a member of the Chicago Junior league. She has two small children, James A. III. and Margaret Kemp Moffett.

Mr. Maddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Maddock of New York, was graduated from Brown university in 1933 and from the Harvard graduate school of business administration in 1935. The couple will make their home in New York City.

BEARS WIN AERIAL BATTLE FROM RAMS, 47-25

It Will Be Fenger or Lindblom.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Leo's Lions will be back in Mayor Kelly's all-city prep football battle in Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon.

The south siders, whose last appearance in the charity contest in 1937 was due to the running ability of Johnny Galvin, this time return with another touchdown specialist possessing an educated toe. He is Henry [Babe] Baranowski, who brought Leo the Catholic league championship when De Paul was defeated, 7 to 6, before 15,000 in the lake front arena yesterday afternoon.

Baranowski, short, husky quarter back who led Leo to the semi-finals of the national Catholic basketball tournament last spring, scored the south siders' touchdown in the fourth quarter and then added the extra point to assure the squad of an opportunity to avenge the 26 to 0 defeat suffered at the hands of Bill De Correvont and his Austin teammates three years ago.

Name Leo's Foe Today.

Leo's opponent in the game, which officials of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund predict will attract 80,000, will be Fenger or Lindblom, which battled to a scoreless tie in the Public School league championship Saturday afternoon. Five members of the league's football committee this morning will select the team to oppose the Lions.

The scarcity of touchdowns on the lake front gridiron over the week-end prevailed until the final minutes of the second quarter of yesterday's battle. De Paul, which won six consecutive games in the north section, produced the first score on a spectacular play when Bill Freewalt, star left half, shot a short pass over the line of scrimmage to Johnny Smith, 152 pound end. Smith scampered fifty-four yards along the east sidelines for the touchdown.

Leo Capitalizes on Break.

The Lions, who last week qualified for the finals on a touchdown pass and field goal by Baranowski over Joliet Catholic, received a scoring opportunity in the last few seconds of the third period and they didn't waste any time producing the winning points.

After three plays had failed to send Leo beyond the De Paul 46 yard line, Baranowski punted to Joe Hoban, De Paul's quarter back, who fumbled. The ball was recovered by Frank Lauro, Leo's 190 pound left guard, on the De Paul 21 just as the third period ended.

Bob Hanlon, Lion substitute left half back, picked up five yards on the first play of the fourth quarter, but Baranowski's pass was incomplete. On his pet play, a spinner thru tackle, Baranowski dashed to the 9 yard line. Bob Kelly, full back, smashed thru center for three yards. Baranowski slipped thru tackle again for three more yards and then crashed over on the next play with the tying touchdown.

De Paul, making its first appearance in the final round since 1929, held the edge in the statistics. The Demons made seven first downs to Leo's five. De Paul accounted for 120 yards by rushing and 66 by passing, while Leo made 100 yards by rushing and 32 by passing.

N. U. CELEBRATES TODAY: HOLIDAY, PARADE, DANCE

Classes will be dismissed at Northwestern university today as the student body celebrates Saturday's 20 to 0 victory over Notre Dame, the first Wildcat victory over the Irish in five years and the third Northwestern triumph in the 51 year old series.

A parade thru the streets of Evanston will be followed by a pep session on the campus meadow at 11 o'clock. The day's celebration will be climaxed by a victory dance in the afternoon. Speakers at the pep session will include members of the Wildcat squad and the coaching staff.

The team will disband until Dec. 7 when it will be fêted at the annual football dinner given by the Northwestern University club of Chicago in the Stevens hotel. Next year's captain will be elected and the most valuable player for the Chicago Tribune award will be selected.

TORONTO WHIPS BLACKHAWKS, 4-2, IN STADIUM

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The brilliant Toronto Maple Leafs, smarting from a 1 to 0 defeat accorded them by the Blackhawks in Toronto Saturday night, wreaked vengeance before 15,760 in the Chicago Stadium last night when they squelched their erstwhile conquerors, 4 to 2.

No Hawk team ever skated faster or played more skilfully than did the Chicagoans in all of the first period and all but a few seconds of the second and third periods, but there simply was no adequate reward for zeal, zip, and dramatic endeavor.

Sweeney Schriner's flair for scoring before the Hawks settled down in the second and third periods spoiled everything.

First Period Scoreless.

In the first period the Hawks outskated the Leafs terrifically but got nothing better than a scoreless tie for their superlative efforts. The scoreless tie was broken by Schriner on an unassisted goal in 27 seconds of the second period, but the Hawks tied it up in 5 minutes and 27 seconds of the same session when Joe Cooper took a pass on the blue line from Max Bentley and Bill Thoms and blasted home a long one.

The 1 to 1 tie prevailed until 18 minutes and 10 seconds of the second period when Gus Marker, on assists from Hank Goldup and Pete Langelle, gave the Leafs a 2 to 1 lead.

The score became 3 to 1 for the visitors when Schriner pulled some more of his early bird stuff. In 46 seconds of the third period, Schriner and Billy Taylor lined up along the left boards after getting the puck out of a face-off in their own defensive zone. They skated leisurely abreast until they crossed the Hawks' blue line, then Schriner broke to his right, took a pass and skated straight at Goalie Paul Goodman for an easy tally.

MacKay Drives in One.

In 9 minutes and 50 seconds of the final period, Red MacKay scored for the Hawks after some very foxy stick work by Max and Doug Bentley had set up the chance.

The Hawks then drove in and seemed likely to accomplish a tie, especially while Reg Hamilton was off two minutes for tripping. The Hawks continued to stay forward and while they were trying to turn on the power technique Syl Apps broke out of the Melee and skated solo to Goalie Goodman's presence, and scored.

The Hawks, in addition to denying the home folks the sight of the first victory in Chicago this season, also blew a chance to effect a three way National Hockey league tie for first place among themselves, the Leafs, and the Detroit Red Wings.

NATION'S NO. 1 RANKING GOES TO MINNESOTA

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Minnesota is the Western conference football champion and the No. 1 team in the nation. The Big Nine title already had been won, but the Gophers' victory over Wisconsin Saturday for their eighth consecutive triumph certified the national rating. This honor is challenged by Tennessee, Texas A. & M., Stanford, and perhaps Boston college. These have not completed their schedules.

It is impossible, of course, to rate a defeated team higher than an undefeated eleven when these rival squads have met. But there will be many today who will argue vehemently that Michigan is the best team in the country despite its rainy defeat by Minnesota, 7 to 6. The Wolverines climaxed their campaign Saturday with an incredible 40 to 0 victory over Ohio State. Michigan made it three in a row over the Buckeyes and paid off for the 1935 season when Ohio State won, 38 to 0. Most remarkable is that Michigan defeated a team which practically was the same that held the Wolverines to a last minute 21 to 14 score a year ago.

Ohio Coach on the Spot.

The collapse of Ohio State was complete and it presages changes in the coaching personnel we forecast after Cornell whipped the Buckeyes.

There are other fans who will assert that if Michigan is the ranking team in the country, Northwestern deserves second position. The Wildcats also were beaten by Minnesota by one point, 13 to 12, but they made the longest successful march of the season against the Gophers. Their statistical comparisons were favorable. But Northwestern followers will not dally long with this specious argument. They are satisfied that for one year, at least, Notre Dame's reign has been successfully challenged. In the previous 19 games Northwestern had won only two and tied two. It had seemed that no matter what else might happen in the Notre Dame season, the Irish could always count on whipping the Wildcats.

With this background, one then can appreciate the enthusiasm of Northwestern fans and alumni when the Wildcats hurled back the Irish Saturday, 20 to 0. The three touchdown victory was a record point total for Northwestern in any football game with Notre Dame, and by holding the Irish scoreless the Wildcats matched the shutout Iowa registered a week previously.

Notre Dame Deflated.

Both Iowa and Northwestern deflated earlier tales of Notre Dame greatness. Notre Dame had the material for one of its finest teams, but

PORTLAND SIGNS VITT AS MANAGER FOR ONE SEASON

Portland, Ore., Nov. 24 (AP).—Oscar Vitt, released as manager of the Cleveland Indians after piloting them to second place in the American league this year, signed today to manage the Portland club of the Pacific Coast Baseball league.

Club President E. J. Schefter said Vitt signed a one year contract. His salary was not announced, but the Portland Oregonian said it was believed to be $10,000.

Chicago Retains Division Lead.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Settlement of divisional championships in the National Football league was put over one week until the final day of the season yesterday when the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers placed point scoring on a mass production basis and Washington lost to New York.

Ten touchdowns went over the goal lines in Wrigley field, where the Bears added two field goals and five conversions to defeat the Cleveland Rams, 47 to 25, before 20,717.

The victory retained the Bears' one game lead over the Green Bay Packers, who whipped the Lions, 50 to 7, in Detroit, and left it up to the Chicago Cardinals and Rams to decide whether there shall be a playoff for the Western division championship. The Bears meet the Cardinals in Wrigley field next week, while the Packers close their regular schedule in Cleveland.

Second Largest Score.

The score was the second largest run up by one team this season, being outranked only by the 50 points the Packers scored yesterday. It was the seventh time this year two teams have made more than 50 points in one game and the Bears have been in three of them, all of which they won. They defeated the Packers, 41 to 10, and the Giants, 37 to 21. Fifty-eight points in the Giant game was the previous high for two teams in one game this year.

Passes filled the crisp, sunny afternoon as the Bears virtually gave Cleveland a seven point lead in the first few minutes yesterday, then rallied to take a commanding lead, before Parker Hall could bring Cleveland's chief offensive weapons to bear on the one weak spot in their armor—pass defense.

McAfee's Punt Blocked.

Someone forgot to block Tackle Boyd Clay of Tennessee as George McAfee punted on the third play of the game and Clay blocked the kick. Capt. Chet Adams recovered for Cleveland on the Bears' 12 yard line. Seven plays later Johnny Drake, carrying for the fifth time in the series, punched thru center for a few inches and a touchdown. Adams added the extra point to put Cleveland ahead.

Thereafter touchdowns came so fast the scoreboard boys had difficulty keeping up and spectators were too busy following one spectacular pass after another to mind the nipping breezes that swept in from the north. Forty-eight passes in all were thrown by the two teams, with 24 completions for a total of 404 yards and seven touchdowns.

The Bears received after the Rams' touchdown and did not surrender the ball until they had tied the score, marching sixty-four yards in seven plays. They put together four first downs in this series in which Bernie Masterson completed passes of 12 and 15 yards to Dick Plasman and 21 yards to Hampton Pool, rookie end. Bill Osmanski, playing one of his finest games, scored the touchdown on a three yard smash. Jack Manders kicked the point.

Plasman Travels 40 Yards.

Before this touchdown had been tallied on the official score sheet Cleveland had received. Hall had quick-kicked and Masterson had passed fifty-eighty yards to Plasman for another touchdown. Plasman juggled the ball when Ollie Cordill hit him, but held it and ran forty yards to the goal. Bob Snyder missed the try for point and the quarter ended 13 to 7.

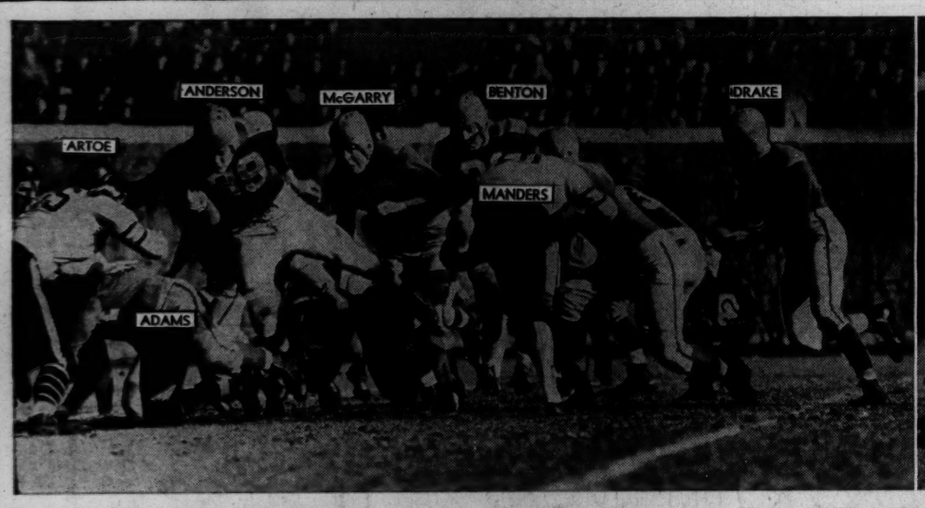
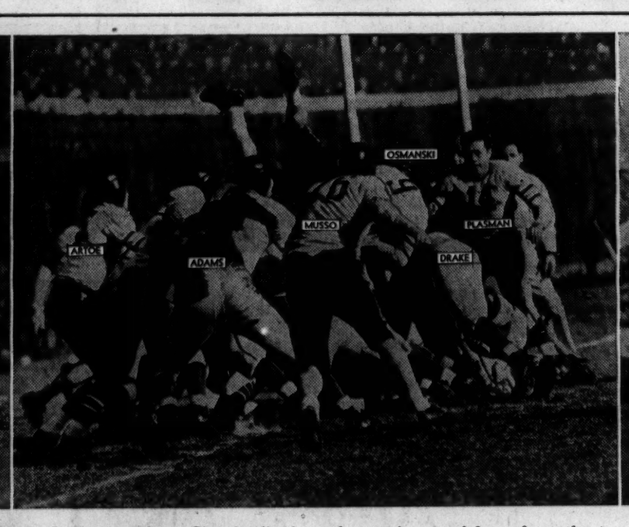
THE BEARS DISCOVER A MR. DRAKE IS IN THE GAME—DE PAUL TAKES TO AIR AGAINST LEO



John Drake, Cleveland Rams' full back, steps out for two yards shortly after the Rams had blocked George McAfee's kick in the first quarter of yesterday's National league game with the Bears in Wrigley field. Drake took the ball to the 1 yard line on this play. The Bears won a brilliant aerial battle, 47-25.



Drake completes Cleveland's thrust by scoring touchdown from the 1 foot line. The touchdown came in the first few minutes of the game, but the Bears went swiftly to work to take a 23 to 7 lead at the half.

William Freewalt, De Paul's star left half, throws a long pass in the Catholic league championship game in Soldiers' field yesterday. It was incomplete, but De Paul scored later in the period, only to lose, 7 to 6, when Leo scored in the fourth quarter. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24 (AP).—The Green Bay Packers today rolled up their biggest score since entering the National Professional Football league in 1919 by swamping the Detroit Lions, 50 to 7. The triumph kept alive Green Bay's hopes of overtaking the Chicago Bears in the fight for the western division title. It was the worst defeat in the history of the Detroit club.

The Packers, avenging a 23 to 14 loss to the Lions earlier in the season, turned the game into a rout with two touchdowns in the first period. They scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter to lead, 27 to 0, at the half, added a field goal in the third period and got three unneeded touchdowns in the final quarter.

Detroit's score came five minutes before the game ended on a forty-eight yard passing play with Jack Johnson taking an aerial from Charles [Cotton] Price. The Lions never even a faint scoring gesture at any other time to excite the crowd of 26,019.

Rams Next for Packers.

The alert Packers turned the first of five pass interceptions into points halfway thru the opening period when Lou Brock grabbed a toss by Byron [Whizzer] White and sprinted seventy-three yards to the Detroit 1 yard line. Cecil Isbell plunged over and Don Hutson came in to make his 18th straight conversion.

The Packers marched fifty-three yards for another touchdown a few minutes later, the passing combination of Isbell and Hutson producing the points on an eight yard aerial into the end zone. This time Hutson's placement was blocked. The Packers obtained touchdown No. 3 on the opening play of the second quarter when Carl Mulleneaux picked up a Detroit fumble and galloped twenty yards.

Packers March 82 Yards.

The fourth Green Bay tally came later in the second period on an eighty-two yard drive. Eddie Jankowski ran fourteen yards around left end for the score. Hutson added his third extra point.

Packer substitutes played the last half, but the scoring continued unchecked. In the third period Hinkle came from the bench to boot a nine yard field goal after two scoring thrusts had fallen short.

On the first play of the fourth period Andy Uram ripped the Lions' line for fourteen yards and a score. Bob Adkins added the extra point. Next a thirty yard pass from Harold Van Every to Dick Evans planted the ball on Detroit's 3, and Jankowski went over.

Then Van Every and Uram, two former Minnesotans, connected on a 12 yard pass play for a score just before the finish.

Bears Defeat Rams, 47-25, in Aerial Duel

the second quarter, noticed no one had bothered to block End John Siegal, and ran instead. He failed to make first down and the Bears took possession on the Rams' 38 yard line. Six plays, one a twenty-two yard pass, Sid Luckman to Siegal, put the ball on the 15 yard line. Manders trotted in from the bench, dropped back to the 22 yard line and, at a sharp angle, place kicked the Bears into a 16 to 7 lead.

Anything Can Happen.

By now it was evident that this was going to be one of those afternoons when anything could happen. It happened seven plays later when the Bears punted back to their 23 yard line, sent Joe Maniaci into the line for three yards and, on second down, had Luckman pass seventy-four yards to Ken Kavanaugh for another touchdown. Kavanaugh ran fifty-six yards with the pass. Manders kicked the extra point, and it was 23 to 7.

The score became 30 to 7 early in the third quarter when Masterson wound up a fifty-five yard advance with a running lateral to McAfee, far out on a man in motion play. McAfee rifled a left handed forward pass on the dead run to Bob Nowaskey, in the end zone. Manders again added the extra point.

Hall Finds the Range.

After this touchdown Hall began to find the range and Cleveland took its turn at bringing the crowd up out of its blankets screaming. Hall missed fire with his first down pass after the kickoff, but his second found Vic Spaddaccini, who tacked on twenty-two yards for a forty-eight yard gain and a first down on the Bears' 27 yard line. Hall's third consecutive pass fell into Cordill's arms and the former Rice half back stepped over for his first touchdown as a professional. Pool blocked Drake's attempt for the point and the score stood 30 to 13.

Adams' kickoff went out of bounds and the Bears took possession on their 45 yard line. Harry Clark, one of the best backs yesterday among a corps of superb ball handlers, got only a yard on the first down, so on second Masterson passed. Pool took it out of Drake's hand on the 20 yard line, but Drake had him by the knees. Nowaskey came by just about this time and Pool lateraled to him. Nowaskey had no trouble beating Cordill in a race for the corner of the field and wound up the 54 yard play with the Bears' fifth touchdown. Manders' extra point made it 37 to 13.

Siegal Varies Procedure.

John Siegal varied procedure to give the Bears a 44 to 13 lead in the fourth quarter. After a point had put the Rams on their 12 yard line, Cleveland went to the air. But Smith's first pass was wild. On his second attempt he was trapped by Jack Torrance, and dropped by Kavanaugh on the 1 yard line. As he lay there, partly dazed, the ball was loose under his arm. Siegal just picked it up and lunged over. Snyder added the extra point.

Cleveland bounced back with another touchdown nine plays after receiving the ensuing kickoff. One was a 28 yard pass, Hall to Jim Benton, who dropped to his knees to make the catch. The last one was a beautifully executed running pass by Hall to End John Wilson for fourteen yards in the end zone. Drake's try for extra point missed the posts.

Drake Passes for Score.

But it wasn't over yet. The Rams kicked off, gave the Bears four chances to show something, then advanced 61 yards to the last touchdown of the afternoon. Hall threw two successful passes in this march and there was an interference penalty on the Bears, plus a variation of the old Statue of Liberty play which finally brought the Rams to the 7 yard line. Drake then threw a pass over the line to Benton in the end zone for the last seven yards and the score. Spaddaccini missed the try for extra point.

Martinovich Kicks Goal.

thru no fault of its own, an unusually easy schedule never gave the Irish opportunity to develop when the test came they were unprepared. Cornerstone of the Wildcats' decisive victory was Don Clawson, Wildcat full back. He was an unstoppable ball carrier who took a pass from Bill De Correvont and ran twenty-six yards for the first touchdown, and then raced twenty-seven yards for the third touchdown. Clawson had shown flashes of greatness in last year's game with Notre Dame when the Wildcats lost 7 to 0. But Saturday he matched the plunges of Capt. Milt Piepul, Irish full back, who had a better average gain, but carried the ball only seven times.

Bill De Correvont also played his best game in his two years of competition. He had poise even when kicking under pressure.

Bauman Is Star Lineman.

Co-starring with De Correvont was Alf Bauman, Bill's former Austin High school teammate, who was the best lineman on the field.

Wisconsin shares with Northwestern the honor of greatest progress. While the Badgers could not defend their 13 point lead over Minnesota and lost, 22 to 13, the game capped a record which eventually landed the Badgers in fourth position in the conference race and further exemplified that constant repetition of blocking and tackling will pay dividends.

Iowa also continued its comeback after its four mid-season defeats to wallop Illinois, 18 to 7. The Hawkeye victory over Notre Dame will rank as one of the major upsets of the year altho it now has been shaded by Northwestern's defeat of the Irish, just as Dartmouth's 3 to 0 victory over Cornell [final version] has been dimmed by Pennsylvania's 22 to 20 conquest of the Big Red.

This brings us back to Michigan, for the Wolverines dominated Pennsylvania, 14 to 0, and with Harvard's late spurt [Michigan defeated Harvard, 26 to 0], Michigan gains in stature.

Harmon No. 1 Player.

Tom Harmon of Michigan is the outstanding player in the nation and worthy rival of any preceding gridiron luminary. In his span of competition he scored 237 points, 33 touchdowns, 33 points after touchdowns, and two field goals; he carried the ball 398 times and gained 2,134 yards for an average of 5.4 yards per attempt. Harmon threw 233 passes, completed 101, for 1,399 yards.

130 Harriers Bid Today for National Title

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 24 [Special].—Cross country runners from such widely separated points as Rhode Island and Idaho will assemble at Michigan State college tomorrow noon for the third annual National Collegiate Athletic association cross country championship which, as in the last two years, will be held over the Spartans' four mile course along the Red Cedar river.

A total of 130 runners has been entered representing 24 schools. Michigan State will play the dual rôle of host and defending champion.

The team title appears to rest between Rhode Island State, Indiana and Michigan State. Rhode Island State won the I. C. A. A. A. A. crown in New York last Monday, with the Spartans finishing second. Rhode Island is led by Bob Nichols and Charley Tingley, who finished second and fourth in the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet.

Indiana, which captured the Western conference title last week, has a well balanced team led by Wayne Tolliver, who holds the conference individual title.

Only four of the first ten men to finish last season are returning, but these are bolstered by many outstanding competitors. Tolliver is one of the favorites.

N. U. COACHING STAFF TO APPEAR AT WAILING WALL

Northwestern alumni will have their day at the weekly Wailing Wall session of football fans in the grand ballroom of the Sherman hotel today. The entire Northwestern coaching staff will attend.

Head Coach Lynn Waldorf will be the commentator as pictures of the Northwestern-Notre Dame, Northwestern-Michigan, and Northwestern-Minnesota games are shown. Athletic Director Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson also will speak.

New York, Nov. 24 [Special].—Ace Parker was presented with a new car by Brooklyn football fans today in Ebbets field and he thanked them by winning the football game.

For the second Sunday in succession the 167 pounder pulled the Dodgers out of the doldrums and led them to victory. At half time they were behind, 9 to 0, to the Chicago Cardinals but in the third period, just when 16,619 fans had given up hope, Ace took charge and the final score was 14 to 9. He ran for one touchdown, passed for another and kicked both extra points.

The second half opened with a Brooklyn fumble and the Cardinals appeared to be headed for more points.

Ace Springs Into Action.

At this point Parker leaped into the air on his own 26 yard line and intercepted Hugh McCullough's pass. Pug Manders plunged for two yards and then Ace, from kick formation, threw a pass to Rhoten Shetley out in the left flat. Shetley raced from his own 38 to the Cards' 18 yard line. On the next play, Parker sprinted around his own right end, aided by a nice block by Pug Manders, and scored standing up.

After an exchange of punts, Ace again got his boys in motion. Starting from their own 30 the Dodgers drove 70 yards to score the decisive touchdown. First Parker cracked the line for six yards, then he passed to Shetley to the Brooklyn 49. Ace followed with a sixteen yard thrust thru the right side of the Cardinal line. Banks McFadden swung around on an off-tackle play and cut back for a nine yard gain. The Cards expected the Dodgers to plunge on the first down but Parker passed. The ball went to Perry Schwartz on the 15 and he scored.

Cards Make One Last Try.

The Cardinals almost pulled the game out of the fire in the final two minutes. Sam Francis had fumbled, Frank Ivy, end, recovering for the Chicagoans at midfield. McCollough, on a third down play, found no receiver, so ran thru a big hole to the Dodgers' 33 yard line. A pass to Beryl Clark put it on the 21. Then McCollough threw to Coppage and McFadden leaped in an attempt to intercept. But he only tipped the ball and it fell into the hands of Coppage on the 4 yard line—then popped out again. The next time McCollough passed, McFadden intercepted.

Bud Svendsen, Dodger center, squelched the first Chicago threat in the first quarter with an interception, but the next Chicago drive, sparked by Marshall Goldberg, wound up with Lou Zontini kicking a field goal from the 17 yard line.

The invaders' touchdown came in the second period after McFadden's fumble had been recovered by Ki Aldrich, Cards' center, on the Dodgers' 42 yard line. Three plays later McCollough whipped a pass to Coppage. The big end took it on the 18 and streaked into the end zone.

The Cards missed three other opportunities to score in the first half.

GIANTS CASH ON BREAKS; UPSET REDSKINS, 21 TO 7

First Quarter Openings Clinch Victory.

New York, Nov. 24 (AP).—New York's Giants had an early date with Lady Luck today, cashed in on her favors for two quick first period touchdowns, and upset the Washington Redskins, 21 to 7, in a National league game.

With 46,439, the largest crowd of the local pro season, huddling in showers and cold dampness at the Polo Grounds, the Giants took advantage of two first quarter openings to put the game on ice, and then sent their ace, Tuffy Leemans, on a thirty-six yard touchdown dash in the closing minutes to make the decision stick.

Baugh's Pass Scores.

The Redskins, who not only didn't get the breaks, but hardly deserved them with the ineptness of their attack once they penetrated enemy territory, scored in the third quarter on a Sammy Baugh to Ed Justice pass after Justice had blocked a New York kick on the Giants' 10 yard line. This pass was Baugh's 106th completion of the season, thereby deadlocking Parker Hall's league record for a year's campaign.

In addition to equaling one league mark, Sammy broke another in boosting his season total of passing gains to 1,321 yards, thereby eclipsing Davey O'Brien's record by nine yards.

By losing, the Redskins failed to clinch the league's eastern championship.

A fumble of their own and an interception of a Baugh toss gave the Giants enough points to win in the first eight minutes. The fumble was one of those cases where it showed the New Yorkers just couldn't do anything wrong today. The Giants started a drive from their own 26 yard line and reached the 36 on line plays. Hank Soar then faded back and pitched a long pass to Jim Lee Howell, who was hit on the Redskin 15 yard line and fumbled as he fell. Tackle Johnny Mellus, coming in fast, scooped up the ball and ran over for a touchdown.

Giants Score Again.

After Len Barnum missed on a field goal try, less than two minutes later, Howell intercepted a pass on the Washington 23 yard line. On the second play, Barnum tossed an aerial to Howell for the second touchdown.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings went thru their sixth consecutive National Hockey league game without defeat tonight when they came from behind on a disputed goal for a 1 to 1 overtime tie with the tired Boston Bruins.

The tying goal, scored in the third period by Syd Howe with a swipe from far out, drew a storm of protest from the Bruins, who claimed that the Red Wing swung a high stick, making the shot illegal. Referee Frank Clancy said that the puck struck the hand of Dit Clapper, Boston defense man, and was deflected into the net and that he had no alternative but to award Detroit the goal. Lineups:

FEATURE MIDGET AUTO RACE WON BY TED DUNCAN

Teddy Duncan of Chicago raced to victory in the 30 lap feature of the indoor midget auto racing national championship program in the International amphitheater last night. Ray Richards, Cowboy O'Rourke, Bob Muhlke, and Tony Bettenhausen finished next in that order in the 13 car field. Duncan's time was 5:24.01.

Wally Zale of Chicago, who won the feature the last two Sundays, dropped out last night at the half way mark because of engine trouble after wrestling the lead from Duncan.

In a special match race, Cecil Yates, the six day bike champion, lost in a photo finish to Cowboy O'Rourke. Yates drove Pete Nielsen's car.

CHAMPION DOG RETAINS TITLE IN FIELD TRIALS

BY BOB BECKER.

Solo Event, a springer spaniel owned by James Simpson Jr. of Wadsworth, Ill., has just been crowned the field trial champion of the year to establish a new American record.

This imported English dog now has won this honor for two consecutive years, the first time that any springer spaniel ever has won national honors two years in a row. Trained and handled by Clifford Wallace, Solo Event recently won the open all age stake at the Valley Forge field trial in the east which gave it more firsts in open all age stakes than any competing springer on the fall field trial circuit.

In addition to winning the crown of springer spaniel field champion of America, Solo Event also brings to the middle west the Field and Stream sterling silver trophy which is awarded to the topnotch performer in licensed trials. Eltinge F. Warner of New York came to Chicago yesterday to make a formal presentation of the trophy to Mr. Simpson.

Chamaco Beats Schaefer in Three Cushion Billiards

Joe Chamaco, Mexican champion, defeated Jake Schaefer in a special three cushion billiards match in Bensinger's Wabash avenue Recreation by winning the fourth and final block last night, 60 to 54, in 62 innings. Chamaco, who overtook and passed Schaefer in the third block Saturday night, wound up with 240 points, high run 8, for the 270 innings, to Schaefer's 220, high run, 11. The final block ran 62 innings, with Chamaco's high run 7 and Schaefer's 6.

Orange Bowl Committee's Candidates Are Revealed

Miami, Fla., Nov. 24 (AP).—Will M. Preston said Alabama, Mississippi State, and other teams are under consideration for the southern representative.

Semi-Finals Start Tonight in C.Y.O. Meet

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Semi-final fighting in the 10th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur tournament will start tonight in C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street, with 28 bouts between boxers in the open, novice, and beginners' classes.

Open contestants will see action in the flyweight, featherweight, welterweight, and light heavyweight divisions, while fighters in the novice ranks will compete in the bantamweight, lightweight, middleweight, and heavyweight brackets. Survivors of recent quarter-final battling in the beginners' class also will fight this evening. There are 13 matches scheduled in this division, every weight being represented save heavyweight. Eight contests involving open battlers and seven between novices are included on the lengthy program.

More Action Tomorrow.

After the last blow is struck tonight only half the 58 contestants will be left. Those remaining in the open and novice divisions will earn the right to compete in the finals in the Coliseum Dec. 4. Victors in the beginners' bracket will return to action in C. Y. O. gymnasium tomorrow when champions will be determined. At the same time open fighting will be seen in the bantamweight, lightweight, middleweight, and heavyweight ranks, and novice battling will take place in the flyweight, featherweight, welterweight, and light heavyweight classes.

One of tonight's features is the possibility of a bout between two brothers, Frank and Tony Bausone, open featherweight rivals. If the luck of the draw doesn't match these brothers, they will meet Andy Franks of St. Patrick's parish in Joliet and Eddie Miller of Corpus Christi.

Dade, Noto on Program.

Harold Dade, 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves flyweight champion, and Al Noto, defending C. Y. O. title holder in this division, will appear tonight. Their opponents are Henry Delullio of St. Matthews, former novice C. Y. O. winner, and Jesse Franks of St. Patrick's in Joliet.

Jersey City Giants Beat Newark on Passes, 17 to 0

Newark, N. J., Nov. 24 [Special].—Accurate passing by Ed Danowski and Grenville Landsdell enabled the Jersey City Giants to score a 17 to 0 victory over the Newark Bears in an American Football Association game today before more than 10,000 spectators.

Human Target.

There are multitudinous guys whom I don't envy,
Including those whose countries are at war;
I know a lot of jobs I do not covet,
The list would run a dozen round or more.

But the one gent I should LEAST like to sit in for,
Or LIE in for, all padded roly-poly,
With bullet pucks astreak and whizzing past me,
Is the harassed, hopping, hiking hockey goalie!

The Old Oak Stands.

For months we've talked of Britain's chance
To dam the rolling Nazi flood,
Because we knew our own defense
Was being bought with English blood.
Until such time as we could build
A safe and sound security,
We've watched and prayed that storms of hate
Would fail to down the Albion tree.
We take new heart as winter comes
To halt invasion's threatened bands
And offer thanks that 'cross the sea,
The great old oak that's Britain stands.

Mamakos and Aron Meet in Return Bout

Milt Aron, aggressive Chicago welterweight fighter, and Steve Mamakos of Washington, D. C., will meet in a return bout of 10 rounds in the first major indoor show of the season in the Coliseum, 1513 South Wabash avenue, tonight.

Six thousand fans paid $12,000 to see these rivals battle 10 rounds to a draw in a previous meeting in the outdoors on Sept. 9. More than 5,000 of these will return for this evening's encore. They will contribute a sum exceeding $10,000.

Begun Makes No Prediction.

Jack Begun, manager of Aron, is not making a prediction on the result, probably because he guessed wrong when he forecast Aron would knock out Mike Kaplan in Philadelphia last Oct. 28. Kaplan won a 10 round decision. However, Matt Twomey, representative of Mamakos, is not averse to predicting the probable outcome. He is sure Mamakos will win.

Whatever the result, Aron's future is at stake. A defeat would knock him out of a prospective match with Champion Fritzie Zivic and its attendant $5,000 purse. Aron will weigh about 152 pounds, five more than the division limit. He is in perfect condition, and if an old eye cut is not reopened in the impending fight, he is expected to win. He is a superior boxer and punches harder than his rugged foe. Mamakos is a nonstop fighter, however, and anything may happen.

Three Supporting Matches.

There will be three supporting matches of 10 rounds. Two of these are between lightweights — Jimmy Tygh of Philadelphia and Nick Castiglione of the west side, and Pat Foley, Worcester, Mass., and Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man.

Eddie Blunt, Corona, N. Y., heavyweight, well versed in the game, will brave the bomb Lem Franklin contains in his right hand in a 10 round opener. Blunt comes with an impressive record. He scored a seven round technical knockout over Tony Musto of Blue Island in Newark Aug. 5. He also scored two victories over Big Abe Simon, also in Newark, last spring. Franklin hasn't accomplished much since an unimpressive triumph he registered against Willie Reddish in the same arena on March 14.

SLOVAKS DEFEAT MILWAUKEE, 1-0, ON REBOUND GOAL

BY OFFSIDE.

The Slovaks of the major division of the International Soccer league defeated the Wacker F. C. of Milwaukee, 1 to 0, in a National Challenge cup second round match in Sparta stadium yesterday. Fred Vagouvsky scored the only goal after 27 minutes had elapsed in the second half.

A highlight was the play of Erick Mueller, the Wackers' goal keeper, who withstood a bombardment of tries by the Chicago team, particularly in the second half when the Slovaks had the sun and wind in their favor.

It was after a flurry of futile attempts that the Slovaks broke thru the Milwaukee defense to clear Pete Matrevich, whose hard shot struck the goal post and rebounded to Vagoussky. The Slovak center this time succeeded in outwitting Goal Keeper Mueller and shot past him from five yards to score.

Slovaks to Play Spartas.

In a meeting after the game it was decided the Slovaks and Sparta-Ogden Dairy would play their third round match in Sparta stadium next Sunday. Lineups:

Kickers Upset Swedes.

The International major division furnished more surprises. The Swedish Americans, amateur champions, lost their first game yesterday, the Kickers triumphing, 1 to 0. The Vikings also did the unexpected, whipping the German Americans, 4 to 1, to take first place in the major league standings. The Wislas, with seven straight victories in the first division, trounced the Joliets, 5 to 1, to take a commanding lead in their division. Other scores:

War Boosts U. S. Exports to South America

SURVEY SHOWS GIGANTIC SHIFT IN WORLD TRADE

Boom Taps Strategic Market Vein.

Sales of machine tools in eight months aggregated $120,551,000, almost two and one-half times the export business for the corresponding period of 1938. Not only were the belligerents buying all they could get, but Brazil and Argentina more than doubled their 1938 purchases.

American motor trucks made an amazing showing. Altho the strangulating effect of the war upon normal markets where the American automotive industry enjoys a deserved popularity was reflected in a decline of 35.5 per cent in the sale of passenger cars, the volume of truck sales to date this year actually is greater than in 1938. The 1940 figure of $59,036,337 compares with $52,918,534 for 1938. Here, again, Latin American buyers offset losses in the European markets.

Automobile accessories boomed on buying from Central and South America, while, with Great Britain's factories concentrating on the production of war materials, the British dominions were heavy buyers in the American market. Ordinarily they adhere to trade nationalism in this field by "buying British."

Tire Exports Rise 50 Per Cent.

Exports of American tires and tubes increased approximately 50 per cent in the first eight months of the year as compared with 1938. Mexico bought a total of $336,698, as compared with $133,452 two years ago; South Africa, $534,212, compared with $71,007 in 1938, and India $883,382, in comparison with $75,751 during the same period in 1938.

Buying of American woodworking machinery constantly is accelerating. Sales for eight months aggregated $2,161,703 as compared with $1,403,522 in 1938. August exports of $396,980 represented a greater volume than for any preceding month this year, indicating an active demand for this type of equipment which has not been satisfied by American productive capacity. Latin American purchases represented a substantial backlog.

The export trade in garage tools and equipment with eight representative Latin American countries during the first eight months amounted to $865,593. For the same period in 1938 total sales were $584,973.

Sales to Mexico Doubled.

Illustrative of the trend was the case of Mexico, which bought $134,352 worth of tools this year, as against $59,042 in 1938.

Distinct gains in sales of paints, varnishes, and lacquers were registered in Latin America. Examples were Mexico, which bought $312,161 worth of these materials in eight months, as compared with 1938 purchases of $208,616; Colombia, $338,849 this year, as against $261,218 in 1938, and Panama, $210,113, as against $120,458.

Argentina bought $728,419 worth of American pumps, as compared with $197,328 in 1938; Venezuela, $592,244, as compared with $397,850; Mexico, $489,187, as against $409,769, and Colombia, $225,181, as against $178,333.

Gain of Products Shown.

Iron & stl mill prod.	$190.8	$426.9	123.7
Raw cotton	171.4	336.3	96.2
Aircraft, eng & parts.	89.6	246.3	174.7
Machinery	483.7	599.1	23.8
Chem & related prod.	138.9	225.0	62.0
Lubricating oil	74.3	113.1	52.2
Firearms & ammunitn	5.2	43.8	743.7
Coal	51.4	89.6	74.3
Paper & mfrs.	27.4	59.1	115.6
Refined copper	75.9	103.5	38.9
	$1,307.7	$2,242.7

Altho it is apparent many of these products would classify as war materials, shipping manifests and the statements of port authorities indicate that a large volume of such goods is going to nonbelligerent countries. The extension of American shipping routes also indicates that American business is following up new markets it has recently opened.

Sailings Nearly Doubled.

For example, direct sailings of American vessels for East and South African ports are now averaging 12 to 14 a month. This is nearly double the rate at which ships were clearing for these ports before the outbreak of the war.

Vessel brokers in Norfolk and Newport News said American ships, for the first time, were being chartered for South American business. They cited the steamers Sage Brush, Evelyn, and Felix Taussig as having entered the South American run. Beginning Nov. 30 the Aloa Steamship company will operate freight steamers to Bermuda, Trinidad, Antigua, St. Lucia, Barbados, British West Indies, and British Guiana.

Port authorities tell of hustling business. At Norfolk, for example, 1,533,609 tons of coal were loaded for export in October, approximately 500,000 tons going to South America, Cuba, and Spain. Brazil's coal demands in particular are growing heavier daily.

Autos for South America.

Only a few days ago two shiploads of automobiles and tractors were shipped to Buenos Aires from Newport News. Argentina is also buying much lumber thru Norfolk and Newport News, and other ports report large shipments of pulp and paper manufactures.

J. V. Spachner, vice president of the Container Corporation of America, a leading producer of paper board products, said the United States is exporting nearly four times as much pulp as it did before the war destroyed the Scandinavian sources. Japan and England, as well as South America, are buying heavily in the American market.

The port of Baltimore already has handled exports with a total value of $155,791,000 during the first 10 months this year, up 124 per cent over the same period in 1939. New Orleans shipped export cargoes valued at $42,375,230 during the first nine months, $6,053,276 more than during the same period a year ago. Exports thru this port to 17 Latin American countries have increased and shipping facilities to those countries are being rapidly enlarged.

Business Men Cite Gains.

The expansion in the export trade to Latin America reflected by port and shipping officials also is borne out by the statements of business men. Officers of both the Abbott Laboratories and of Parke, Davis & Co., manufacturers of pharmaceuticals and chemical products, said there had been a substantial increase in business this year with South America.

"The increase in our trade with the countries to the south may equal our sales during the world war, when an enormous demand developed because of the shortage caused by cutting off European sources," said Ernest Brier, foreign sales manager of Parke, Davis.

Some increases are reported by dealers in surgical supplies. Don Cammon, secretary and general manager of the Cameron Specialty company, reported, for example, that his firm recently had shipped three flexible gastroscopes, costing $650 each, to South American countries. This instrument, used in making stomach examinations, formerly was an exclusive product of Germany.

Mining Shipments Increase.

E. F. Schaefer, vice president of the Gardner-Denver company of Quincy, manufacturers of mining and road building machinery, air tools, and related products, said his firm currently is shipping 15 to 20 per cent more goods abroad than a year ago.

"We expect a further increase in exports to South America," he said, "particularly when the west coast mining industry in Peru and Chile has stepped up production to meet war demands for copper and other metals. India and Australia are sending orders for road machinery, and South Africa is in the market for gold mining machinery. In all these countries American goods are replacing to a considerable extent machinery formerly supplied by Europe."

Joseph R. Bohnen, executive secretary-treasurer of the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturing association, said there had been an increase of about 25 per cent in exports of washing machines to South America. He agreed, however, with Edward N. Hurley Jr., president of the Electric Household Utilities corporation, manufacturers of electric washing machines and other home equipment, that it was difficult to crack the Latin American market for volume sales.

"You can't sell many washing machines in countries where you can get all the servants you want for a few dollars a month," Hurley said.

Shipments Continue to Be Good.

Hurley and Bohnen both said that shipments to South Africa continue to be good. Thru September 731 washing machines were exported from this country to South Africa, as compared with 412 units for the same period in 1939.

Anthony Patric, a correspondent for THE TRIBUNE, reports from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, that importers and dealers in radio sets, refrigerators, typewriters, sewing machines, and other American made luxury products look for 1941 to be a record year.

Imports of these products from Germany, Holland, and Italy are at a standstill. One distributor of American typewriters reported his sales in the last few months had shown an increase of 1,000 per cent over 1939.

Trade Division Shown.

The department of commerce, summarizing the export trade of the United States in the first year of the war, shows American export trade to be divided among the geographical areas of the world as follows:

	Twelve Months Ending Aug. 31, 1939.	Aug. 31, 1940.	Per Cent Gain, 1939 to 1940.
	[Millions of dollars]
Europe	$1,236.9	$1,689.8	36.6
North America	436.4	666.8	52.8
Latin America	554.6	789.5	42.4
Asia	515.5	639.3	24.0
Oceania	81.1	93.7	15.6
Africa	116.6	137.0	17.5
		Average
Total Exports	$2,940.1	$4,016.2	Gain 36.6

The Importers' Guide, a leading trade journal in detailing commercial trends, has compiled statistical studies showing increased exports of a number of basic commodities to various countries. Some of these are shown below. They reflect accurately the growth of American export trade during the first eight months of this war year as compared with the corresponding period in 1938, the last normal year of trade undisturbed by war.

REFRIGERATOR SALES

Altho export sales of American electrical refrigerators have fallen from a volume of $8,002,184 in the first eight months of 1938 to $6,569,987 for the first eight months of 1940, the industry is expanding its markets in Latin America, the Dutch East Indies, and Spain. Sales to some countries were up more than 100 per cent over the corresponding period in 1938. Comparative figures for 1940 and 1938 in countries which have increased their purchases follow:

Country.	8 Months 1940.	8 Months 1938.
Brazil	$621,918	$444,627
Mexico	427,817	106,612
Guatemala	39,211	16,272
Honduras	14,173	8,915
Nicaragua	10,175	2,674
Panama	179,604	67,670
Netherlands E. Indies	166,536	136,918
Bolivia	17,487	8,143
Spain	12,863	Unavailable.
Venezuela	433,461	239,396

HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCES

The war has cut the export market for American electrical household appliances by slightly more than 20 per cent, but there have been noteworthy extensions of the market in almost all Latin American countries. Sixteen of the 20 republics south of the United States registered distinct buying increases. The heaviest blow to the industry was the virtual loss of the British market, which in the first eight months of 1938 absorbed $1,704,801 worth of goods, the greatest volume of any country in the world. The following table shows the trade:

Country.	8 Months 1940.	8 Months 1938.
China	$ 94,649	$ 69,977
Malaya	145,325	98,842
Bolivia	37,944	26,858

Peru	88,982	70,752
Paraguay	41,779	12,126
Venezuela	534,641	304,318

RADIO RECEIVING SETS

Exports of radio receiving sets totaled $6,764,134 for the first eight months, compared with $6,473,591 for the similar period in 1938. While American exporters lost ground in Britain and its dominions, where a "voluntary ban" has been placed on so-called luxury goods, new business was developed in Latin America and other foreign markets. The table shows:

Country.	8 Months 1940.	8 Months 1938.
Mexico	$660,683	$282,966
Chile	290,403	230,505
Panama	142,703	75,101

Nicaragua	16,627	3,939
India	300,005	164,162
Malaya	48,718	40,228

PASSENGER CARS

The war has made severe inroads on the automobile industry's export market, foreign sales the first eight months this year having declined 35.5 as compared with the corresponding period in 1938. Gasoline rationing in Europe and the desire to conserve cargo space for war materials, as well as the fact that large areas of the world have been isolated by blockade, were the main factors in the slump. Mexico showed the greatest increases in purchases of cars costing not more than $850 each. Exports thru September this year amounted to $43,117,424, as compared with $69,283,180 for the first eight months of 1938. Nations outside the immediate war zone which showed outstanding gains or losses follow:

Country.	8 months 1940.	8 months 1938.
Japan	$ 50,567	$ 628,529
Mexico	1,437,581	799,568

New Zealand	92,027	1,040,996
Union of S. Africa	3,366,601	6,941,513

ROAD MACHINERY

Despite the loss of several large customers, exports in road building and construction machinery increased substantially and raised the volume of trade for the first eight months this year over levels for the corresponding period of 1938. The aggregate business thru the first eight months was $18,573,164, an increase of more than $5,000,000 over the same eight months of 1938. Soviet Russia was the largest buyer. The table:

Country.	8 Months 1940.	8 Months 1938.

AUTO ACCESSORIES

Exports of automobile accessories climbed to $3,594,834 for the first eight months this year. The figure for the comparable period of 1938 was $2,581,763. Latin American countries, formerly large buyers from Europe, greatly increased their purchases, with notable gains in Mexico, Guatemala, Chile, Colombia, and Brazil. The table:

Country.	8 months 1940.	8 months 1938.

TIRES AND TUBES

Exports of American tires and tubes increased approximately 50 per cent in the first eight months of 1940 over the comparable 1938 period. Great Britain reduced its purchases, and sales to other European countries were generally lower. Countries outside of Europe that formerly were not important buyers in the American market made substantial purchases. Among the countries increasing their purchases were:

Country.	8 Months 1940.	8 Months 1938.
Mexico	$336,698	$133,452
Netherlands E. Indies	106,961	92,795

Morocco	51,320	38,570
Guatemala	84,261	40,048
Chile	311,347	225,747

TRUCK EXPORTS

Manufacturers of American trucks increased their total exports for the first eight months of 1940 to $59,036,337, a remarkable showing, exceeding even the volume of the similar period of 1938, when exports amounted to $52,918,534. This achievement, in the face of disturbed world conditions, is a tribute to the justified reputation of American trucks for performance, endurance, and operating economy. Here, again, increased sales to Latin America helped offset losses in European markets.

PREDICT BRITISH WILL BUY MORE AMERICAN STEEL

Rate of Production 97 Pct. of Capacity.

The bombing of British industrial centers, such as Coventry and Birmingham, is expected to increase English purchases of steel in this country, the magazine Steel said in its weekly review published yesterday.

Some steel men estimate that active negotiations are underway for 300,000 to 400,000 tons of iron and steel for Great Britain. Shipments to Canada are reported at 100,000 tons monthly and South America is expected to begin purchasing at the rate of about 100,000 tons a month. Steel exports for 1940 to date are estimated to have approached or exceeded the 6,300,000 tons in all of 1917.

Rate Depends on War.

Full steel plant operations will be maintained thruout 1941 if Britain and Germany still are actively hostile, steel interests have said.

"Many foresee as the zero hour of a tense situation, the beginning of the second quarter by which time stocks of pig iron, ingots, and semi-finished steel may have been exhausted and consumption supplied solely by current production," the magazine asserted.

Some of the expected bottlenecks have failed to materialize, the review said. The industry is fairly well balanced from the standpoint of supplies, character of demand, and dates of delivery.

Ingot Production Rises.

Ingot production last week gained 1 point to 97 per cent of capacity, the highest since May, 1929. Operations increased in six districts, including Chicago which gained 1 point to 95. They continued unchanged in two areas and dropped in four.

Rail steel bars have been advanced $2 a ton to a parity with billet steel bars because of scarcity of scrap rails, Steel reported.

WARNER BROS. NETS $2,747,472 IN FISCAL YEAR

Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and subsidiaries yesterday reported that in the fiscal year ended Aug. 31 [53 weeks] operating profit was $2,747,472 after all charges and federal income taxes, equal after annual dividend requirements on preferred stock to 63 cents a common share. Profit was $1,740,907, or 36 cents a share, in the preceding fiscal year [52 weeks]. No dividends have been paid on preferred since March 2, 1932.

DENY U. S. PLANS TO FREEZE AXIS AND BRITISH CASH

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 24 [Special].—Reports that the United States is considering "freezing" of the credits of Great Britain, Italy, and Germany were flatly denied at the temporary White House here tonight.

Under the reported plan, the treasury, thru a licensing system for withdrawals, could permit the withdrawing of credits by Great Britain but prevent withdrawal of credits by Germany or Italy while still being technically impartial.

Presidential aids said that the President had not heard of any such scheme and denied that it existed.

Pennsylvania Road's Net Operating Income Lower

The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday reported net railway operating income for October was $7,903,183, a decrease of $2,383,474 from October, 1939. The net operating income for the first ten months was $63,472,630, an increase of $4,461,578.

MACHINE TOOLS

American machine tools are in great demand, both in the belligerent countries and in other nations closed off by war from European sources. Exports for the first eight months reached $120,551,000, and this undoubtedly would be higher still if manufacturers were not now giving precedence to domestic requirements for the defense program. Great Britain took 42 per cent of all exports and Brazil and Argentina more than doubled their 1938 requirements. The table:

Country.	8 months 1940.	8 months 1938.
Brazil	321,931	135,310
Chile	198,279	155,252
Mexico	163,389	141,598
Australia	2,050,973	549,673
Canada	5,891,121	1,966,070
France	28,365,458	3,089,323
Great Britain	51,224,188	6,608,157
Japan	13,968,601	11,438,490
Russia	12,024,446	20,026,969

Trade analysts said that altho the expanding export market is an encouraging symptom of possible American economic regeneration, this country's business men must act with tact and must employ supersalesmanship to retain their new markets against the victor that emerges from the war. That this is not beyond American business capacity is demonstrated by the experience of the automobile industry during and after the world war. The industry attained world supremacy during the war and since then has succeeded in retaining this dominant position despite new competition that has arisen.

One factor that may tend to prevent the United States from developing the South American market to its fullest potentialities is that Latin America has lost an estimated 500 million dollars of its own export business as a result of the difficulty of obtaining free exchange from sales to countries not affected by the British blockade. The consequent scarcity of exchange necessarily will exercise a cramping influence on these countries, however badly they wish to enter the American market.

Hunt and Jones Candidates for Swift's Board

The names of Albert F. Hunt and O. E. Jones, vice presidents of the company, will be presented as new candidates for the board of directors of Swift & Co., meat packers, at the annual meeting on Jan. 16. The board has voted to increase the number of directors from 9 to 11. G. F. Swift, M. B. Brainard, and T. Philip Swift will be up for reëlection at the same meeting.

Hunt has been an employé of Swift & Co. for 31 years, having begun

In 1930 he was elected a vice president of the A. C. Lawrence Leather company, an associated company. In 1933 he rose to the presidency of the leather firm, which he resigned in 1936 when he was elected a vice president of Swift. He has charge of plant operations, the construction department, and the research laboratories.

Jones entered the company's service 28 years ago as a clerk. Later he was a salesman and then was transferred to the refinery department of which he eventually became manager.

He has had wide experience in the lard, refinery, and oil mill operations of the company and was elected vice president in 1936. He has jurisdiction over branch house and plant sales; canned goods, soap, and hotel, contract, and institution departments.

BROAD FEDERAL PROBE OF FOOD PRICES STARTED

Reduction in Costs Is Announced Aim.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24 (AP).—A nation-wide investigation designed to reduce the cost of food on the table and to increase the income of farmers who produce it was announced today by the justice department.

Following up a similar inquiry into the cost of home building begun some months ago, the department said particular attention would be directed to the prices of bread, milk, meat, fish, cheese, and fruits and vegetables, both canned and fresh.

In both investigations the announced purpose of the department is to eliminate any illegal monopolistic practices which may tend to control prices to consumers.

Food Is Big Expense Item.

"The food investigation," the department said, "is regarded as a logical successor to the housing investigation because, next to rent, food is the largest item of consumer expenditure." The uncompleted housing investigation, it said, had resulted in 99 indictments against 1,538 defendants, and in 22 civil suits to enjoin unlawful acts.

There was evidence, the department contended, that "the food industries function badly for both consumers and farmers."

Processors and distributors, the department said, receive about 50 or 60 cents of the average dollar spent by consumers for food, compared with 40 to 48 cents between 1913 and 1920.

Investigation Has Started.

The following situations in the food industry were said to be already under investigation:

BREAD—Complaints that two associations of bakers have fixed prices and attempted to destroy competitors.

MEAT—Complaints that in an unnamed city slaughtering concerns have increased prices five cents a pound by limiting and allocating the amount of slaughtering and preventing importation of meat slaughtered elsewhere.

POULTRY—Two charges that in metropolitan markets the price of poultry is fixed by "fictitious auctions."

FISH—Two complaints that associations of fishing boat owners and fish canners make annual agreements to fix prices.

MILK—A complaint that dairy companies and distributors have agreed to maintain prices and handicap sales. Another complaint that under "pretext of administering a state milk control law" a control board has boosted prices of milk moving into the state without materially increasing returns to farmers.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES — Charge that canners associations have agreed to fix and manipulate prices.

CHEESE—A charge that in sales of natural cheese "a few transactions in a fictitious cheese auction are used by the principal cheese producers to fix the price," and another complaint that an attempt is being made to create a monopoly in processed cheese.

PROFITABLE ROAD.

I wonder why the profits of the Norfolk and Western are so consistently good, even in bad times. Please furnish me with a sketch of this company.—T. G.

Answer: Norfolk and Western Railway company is one of the most prosperous roads in the country. Factors contributing to its outstanding earnings record include these:

An unusually low operating ratio, relatively small debt, heavy traffic density, fairly long average hauls, and the steady demand for the low-volatile coal mined in the area it serves.

The road is primarily a carrier of bituminous coal mined in the area of western Virginia, southern West Virginia, and eastern Kentucky. Coal constitutes about 85 per cent of the road's freight traffic.

The company operates 2,163 miles of railroad. The main line connects Norfolk, Va., with Cincinnati and Columbus, O., and is linked with Winston-Salem, N. C., Hagerstown, Md., and other cities. Altho the area served is largely devoted to coal mining, it also embraces farming, lumbering and manufacturing areas.

Capitalization of the company comprises $51,794,932 in funded debt, 228,345 shares of 4 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and 1,406,483 shares of common stock, both of $100 par value. The Pennsylvania railroad controls about 45 per cent of the outstanding capital stock.

Dividends have been paid on the common stock without interruption since 1901, and on the preferred since 1897. The quarterly dividend rate on the common is $2.50. When extra payments are made they are customarily declared in the final quarter. Four quarterly dividends for this year have been declared and the last of them will be paid Dec. 19 on stock of record Nov. 30.

Net income, earnings per common share and dividends per common share in recent years compared as follows:

	Net income.	Earned per com	Dividends per com.
1935	$25,355,852	$17.37	$10.00
1936	32,909,525	25.74	15.00
1937	31,799,281	21.96	16.00
1938	20,018,687	13.58	10.00
1939	30,001,238	20.68	15.00

For the first nine months this year net income climbed to $23,732,920, equal after preferred dividends to $16.39 a common share, compared with $18,413,448, or $12.60 a share, in the same period of 1939.

DIVORCED.

May a woman who has been divorced obtain old age or survivors' benefits based on the social security wage credits of her former husband? H. F.

Answer: If the divorce is absolute, she would receive no benefits because the social security act limits such benefits to the legal wife or widow.

LET HOUSING CONTRACT.

The Housing authority has approved a $1,028,611 contract with Alfred A. Smith, Detroit, for construction of the 300 unit "Colonel Hamtramck Homes" rehousing project in Hamtramck, Mich. Officials said the project would employ 640 men for 420 days.

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone girl hire, consign our merchandise and finance your account.

Apply Monday at 1 p. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Leonard

[Associated Press Wirephoto: Sent yesterday from Berlin by radio.]
